Bulganin Letter Kept Secret

Any Draft-Warren Move Opposed By Eisenhower

President Says Family Doesn't Object To Entry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower picked and chuckled his way through a maze of political questions today with praise for Vice President Nixon and an admonition against mixing the Supreme Court and politics.

Both Nixon and Chief Justice Warren have been mentioned as potential Republican presidential nominees in the event Eisenhower foregoes a bid for reelection. Some GOP leaders have talked of pressuring Warren to run if Eisenhower doesn't.

One possible meaning to the President's news conference remarks about the Supreme Court and politics — and there were others — was that there would be no such pressure from him. He didn't say so directly, however.

Ducks Successor Question

Nor was he saying, at this point, whether he might give the nod to Nixon for the presidential nomination, or for second place on the ticket once more if the President does go for a second term.

In fact, Eisenhower ducked entirely a question as to whether he would try to pick his successor if the decision is against seeking four more years in the White House.

As usual, the chief executive deftly avoided tipping his intentions toward a second term at a conference that nudged up to the issue along all sorts of devious routes — between discussions of such topics as taxes, foreign policy, the farm problem and school construction legislation.

Mamie Doesn't Object

Eisenhower sparred past all the political inquiries with chuckles, outright laughter and apparent relish. He brought out factors that might speak for a second term and others that wouldn't.

No, he said, nobody in the family objects to his running again. There have been published reports that Mrs. Eisenhower, in particular, is against it.

He almost snorted at the idea he "was bored to death at Gettysburg" during his weeks of convalescence from his heart attack at his Pennsylvania estate. Again, there have been reports in print he was so bored there that he probably would try for term No. 2.

Prober Charges CCC Outlay Not Helping Farmer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) —The House Appropriations Committee made public today a charge that the Commodity Credit Corporation has showered money on warehousemen and processors without helping farmers.

The charge was made by Rep. Whitten (D - Miss), chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee staff investigation covering the period between April 15, 1955, and January, 1956.

Submitting a report on the investigation findings, Whitten wrote:

"Almost every conceivable action has been taken to increase the costs to the government through additional concessions to certain favored interests, with no benefit to the farmers."

Processors "Made Millions"

Both Whitten's charges and the investigators' findings were made public without comment.

"By price-support juggling of the department," Whitten said, "processors have made millions on commodities never leaving the place of storage. Many other changes have been made to favor warehousemen at the expense of the government, but charged to the American farmers.

"Bins (for grain storage) have been purchased from the highest bidder, all to the profit of business favored over agriculture, and purchase programs for the benefit of the middlemen, with no substantial benefit to the farmer, have been set up.

"Wasteful" Practices

"The 1957 budget includes the sum of $929,300,000 to restore CCC losses incurred during the fiscal year 1955. It is now fairly apparent that a portion of these losses are due to wasteful practices of the department and concessions to certain special groups, rather than to the price-support program itself."

The CCC manages the government's farm price-support program through loans, purchases and sales of farm commodities.

DOOMED — Burton W. Abbott (above) yesterday was condemned to death for the kidnap-murder of Stephanie Bryan, 14. A jury had deliberated his fate at Oakland, Calif., for seven days.

Reds Want Next French Premier To Be Socialist

PARIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Campaigning hard for a place in the French Cabinet, Communist leader Jacques Duclos today called for a Socialist to be the next premier.

The Communists have little chance now to regain the Cabinet posts they lost more than eight years ago, when the last Socialist premier kicked them out. They hope to win the posts back eventually, however, by showing that any left-of-center Cabinet needs their support in the National Assembly.

Reds Control 151 Seats

The Reds now control 151 seats, the largest and solidest bloc in the 595-man Assembly elected Jan. 2.

Duclos today urged President Rene Coty to pick a Socialist. He said the Communists' strength entitled them to the premiership but acknowledged it would be hard for a Red to form a Cabinet, because none of the other parties would join, and nearly all would vote against it.

Mollet Likely Choice

Yesterday the Communists gave the other left-of-center parties proof of their strength by furnishing the votes that elected Socialist Andre le Troquer president of the Assembly, nominally the No. 2 political post in France. In recognition of their strength, the Communists got two of the six vice presidencies.

Coty may name his candidate tomorrow or Friday. A likely choice is Socialist Guy Mollet.

Death Decreed For Rape-Killer

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 25 (AP) — Death in the gas chamber was decreed today for Arthur Ross Brown who robbed, raped and murdered Mrs. Wilma Allen, pretty wife of a Kansas City motor car dealer.

A Federal Court jury, empaneled only to decide Brown's punishment, took just 35 minutes to recommend death for the kidnap-killing which netted him less than $50 last August.

Judge Charles Whittaker set Feb. 24 for the execution of the ex-convict who offered no defense. Brown 30, had pleaded guilty to violating the Federal Kidnaping Act, popularly known as the Lindbergh Law.

The government, in demanding the death penalty, read into the court record the chain of events beginning with abduction of Mrs. Allen, 34, as she left a southside beauty shop. The evidence was from FBI agents to whom Brown told how he had forced the tearful woman to drive to a lonely field in nearby Kansas, raped her and shot her to death while she pleaded to go home to her husband and two small children.

Judge Fells Bat

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 25 (AP) —A bat disrupted a murder trial here today until it was batted down by a judge who was a spectator in Superior Court.

The court was in the process of selecting jurors. Sheriffs, court attaches and spectators tried to force the bat out opened windows without success.

City Court Judge John J. McGuinness Jr. brought the bat down with one swipe of a broom.

Woman Is Trampled In Hockey Game Riot

DURHAM, Ont., Jan. 25 (AP) — A woman was trampled in a riot at a hockey game last night in this town 28 miles south of Owen Sound.

At least one other person required treatment after the brawl, which broke out near the end of an Ontario Hockey Assn. game between Durham and Meaford.

Police could not get through the crowd to stop the fight and the arena management had to turn off the lights to quell the outbreak.

Eisenhower Is Sold On Long-Term Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is sold on a long-term foreign aid program and will fight for it as long as there is any chance of getting it through Congress.

His news conference statement put the damper on reports that the administration was about to give up the idea of 5-or 10-year foreign aid pledges in the face of powerful bipartisan opposition.

There has been "a great deal of misunderstanding" about the program, Eisenhower said.

He told newsmen he doesn't expect Congress to appropriate foreign aid funds more than a year in advance.

What the administration wants, he said, is for Congress to join with the executive branch in assuring the people of the world that the United States will finish what it starts.

Abbott To Die For Kidnaping, Killing Girl, 14

Jury, Deliberating For Week, Convicts University Student

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 25 (AP) — Death in the gas chamber was decreed by a Superior Court jury today for Burton W. Abbott in the kidnaping and sex-murder of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan.

The jury of seven men and five women, which had deliberated since last Thursday, convicted the slender - faced Abbott on two counts, one of murder and one of kidnaping with bodily harm.

On the kidnaping conviction it specifically decreed the death penalty. It made no recommendation on the murder verdict, which also makes a death sentence mandatory.

The 27-year-old University of California student stared frozen-faced and stunned as the jury's verdict was pronounced.

Wife Found Girl's Purse

His red-haired wife, Georgia, whose discovery of Stephanie's purse in the basement of the Abbott home July 15 first pointed the finger of suspicion at her husband, was sad-faced but she kept herself under control.

The case, entirely based on circumstantial evidence, had swung largely on the ability of the prosecution to break down Abbott's alibis for his time during the day of the kidnaping and on the laboratory evidence developed by Dr. Paul R. Kirk, University of California criminologist.

Stephanie vanished April 28 in Berkeley. The disappearance of the dark-haired, quiet little girl, was a mystery until July 15. Then, by accident, Mrs. Abbott found Stephanie's purse in the basement of the Abbott home in Alameda.

Body In Shallow Grave

Five days later, Stephanie's body bludgeoned and decomposed, was found in a shallow grave near the Abbott summer cabin 250 miles to the north in a wilderness area. Abbott admitted he went to that cabin April 28 but insisted he had left his home for the cabin before the girl was kidnaped.

The key incriminating testimony in the case came from Dr. Kirk who said two hairs and 18 fibers found in Abbott's car matched Stephanie's head and clothing; also that clay nine inches down in the grave matched clay on Abbott's boots.

Molotov, Zhukov At Pact Meeting

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 25 (AP)— Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov arrived by plane in Czechoslovakia today for a meeting of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact countries. Diplomatic observers speculated the meeting would be used as a forum for a new propagnada campaign to urge disbandment of the West's North Atlantic Alliance.

The meeting was regarded by these observers as important in this respect: It would show the outlines of a forthcoming Soviet attempt to frighten Western Europe into the idea that military alliances might lead to war on the Continent.

It will likely be accompanied by a renewed Soviet demand for an All - European security arrangement which eventually could lead to recognition of Communist East Germany by Western Nations as a sovereign state.

Besides Molotov and Zhukov, the Soviet delegation included Marshal Ivan S. Konev, commander in chief of the eight-nation alliance of European Communist countries. The alliance was put together last year as a Soviet answer to NATO.

The delegates will attend the first meeting of the political consultative group in Prague.

Jurors Ask Leniency For "Mercy" Slayer

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP) — A mother was indicted today on a manslaughter charge in the shooting of her 35-year-old epileptic son but the grand jury recommended leniency.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Langevin, 56, of Menands, was indicted for first-degree manslaughter for the death of her son, Leonard Leadbetter, who was killed with a rifle as he slept last Oct. 31.

The mother's second husband, Joseph Langevin, said she had been "pressed beyond endurance" by the condition of her son, who had been ill since he was 8. Langevin said she had brooded about what would happen if she were to die before her son.

A Job Well Done

Veteran diver Raymond J. Campbell, 48, second from left, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., greets engineers and newsmen with a smile after forcing shut a safety door yesterday to stem a flood of water on the isolated end of the new Lincoln Tunnel tube in New York. Working under water in intense cold, Campbell succeeded in halting the flow into a 1,650-foot section which is to be joined by the main shaft of the tunnel now being bored under the Hudson river from New Jersey. Kefauver Sees Chances 'Good' In N.H. Primary

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 25 (AP)— Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) formally entered the New Hampshire presidential primary today and said he thinks his chances to repeat his 1952 victory here "are very good."

While the tall Tennessean's supporters were filing papers to place his name in the Democratic preference poll, backers of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) were predicting Knowland's name would be entered on the GOP ballot as "a precautionary move" in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run.

Kefauver's organized forces also filed a complete slate of 12 candidates in the nation's first presidential primary March 13.

They will seek election as Democratic National Convention delegates pledged to give the state's eight votes to Kefauver.

There seemed little doubt that supporters of Adlai Stevenson will enter a delegate slate before the Feb. 11 filing deadline. The party's 1952 standard bearer has refused Kefauver's challenge for a direct battle in the preference poll section of the two-part ballot.

Meanwhile, two Knowland backers predicted the Senate minority leader's name would be entered "as a precautionary measure in case the President decides against seeking reelection."

State Rep. Rita Collyer (R-Lisbon) and Marshall J. Rice of Manchester, who have filed as delegate candidates favorable to Knowland, explained their reasoning this way in separate interviews:

Although Knowland is apparently anxious to run, he would give complete support to Eisenhower if the President runs. But because there have been reports the President might not make public his decision until mid-February, Knowland fears he might be "frozen out" of the early primaries.

410 Died In Mines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines today reported 410 workers were killed in coal mine accidents during 1955, an increase of 15 over the previous year.

Ike Will Outline Health Legislation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower sends Congress tomorrow a special message on health legislation. It will outline in more detail proposals he has described as "necessary to fill significant gaps in the nation's programs for promoting good health."

Apparently the message will omit any strong call for Eisenhower's previously recommended system of federal reinsurance of private health insurance plans to provide increased benefits for more people.

He suggested such a program in 1954 and again last year, but it made little headway in Congress. The American Medical Assn. opposed the idea on the grounds it would constitute an opening wedge to socialized medicine.

IBM To Release Patents To All

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—International Business Machines Corp. today agreed to release its valuable patents to all comers. Settling a government antitrust suit, IBM also agreed to the outright sale of many tabulating devices heretofore available only on a rental basis.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced these company concessions were included, with others, in a consent judgment entered in the Federal District Court at New York City.

The action terminated a monopoly action filed by the Justice Department in January, 1952. The government charged at that time that 90 per cent of all tabulating machines in the United States were owned by IBM and that IBM business practices had excluded others from the field.

Government attorneys said IBM now collects about 250 million dollars annually on rentals of tabulating and electronic processing machines which it has refused to sell to users.

Some of these "electronic brains" machines rent for more than $500,000 per year.

Antisegregation School Aid Rider Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower suggested to Congress today that it keep the segregation issue out of school aid legislation.

He told his news conference that nothing should be written into the legislation "that delays the construction" of schools.

On the other hand, Eisenhower spoke of his devotion to the Supreme Court's decision barring segregation in schools and said "I will understand why they are doing it" if the nation's lawmakers write in an antisegregation rider.

Powell Leads Rider Forces

The question arose as a result of a move by some congressmen, led by a Negro, Rep. Powell (D-NY), to write into the school aid bill a provision that federal money would be denied states which continue to practice school segregation.

Leaders of both parties in the House have said they believe such an amendment might be approved. It was beaten down in committee but Powell has said he will revive the question when the bill by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa) reaches the House floor.

Dixie Opposition Certain

Kelley's bill would provide $1,600,000 in federal aid money over a four-year period. Eisenhower has since asked for 1¼ billions over five years.

If the House approves the anti-segregation amendment, Southern senators are expected to fight it, perhaps with a filibuster.

The President called the segregation issue "a tough one" but suggested that it be laid aside in this instance in favor of getting a school aid bill quickly.

Sandhogs Swim For Lives As Water Floods Tunnel

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—A safety door jammed on the isolated Manhattan end of the new Lincoln Tunnel tube today and the Hudson River flooded the underground approach. The main tube was not affected.

"It was like a dam breaking," said Fred Rodrigues, 27, one of three sandhogs who, weighted down with heavy working gear, swam for their lives in the dark, surging waters.

A 12-hour flow of river water into the nearly one third of a mile long tunnel section finally was stemmed in late afternoon. A diver, Raymond J. Campbell, 48, working under water in intense cold, forced the safety door shut.

Pumps were to be put to work tomorrow to remove the water. There was no indication of any major delay in the tunnel project, scheduled for completion next year.

Twelfth Avenue was closed to traffic for a time, lest water undermine it and cause a collapse.

The new 100-million-dollar third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel is being bored from the New Jersey side of the Hudson. The 1,500 foot shaft beneath the river bed has been pushed to a point even with the Manhattan river bank in midtown.

Meanwhile, a work shaft and tunnel approach were dug through rock on the Manhattan side to await eventual linking with the main tube. It was this approach area that flooded.

The two original Lincoln tubes 175 feet to the north and the parallel new one are for motor traffic between Manhattan and New Jersey.

Khrushchev Quoted As Saying Soviets Convinced Eisenhower Seeks Peace

MOSCOW, Jan. 25 (AP) — A New York lawyer quoted Nikita S. Khrushchev as saying today that he and other Soviet Leaders are convinced President Eisenhower and his advisers are striving for peace.

Marshall MacDuffie, a fairly frequent visitor to the Soviet Union, reported spending three hours and 10 minutes with Khrushchev, the boss of the Soviet Communist party.

The interview coincided with the delivery in Washington of a letter to President Eisenhower from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. The White House press secretary said it was a friendly letter setting forth ideas on world peace.

MacDuffie said Khrushchev told him also that Soviet leaders believed there should be a further relaxation of international relations.

The attorney met with Khrushchev in Communist party headquarters amid preparations for the 20th party Congress.

Khrushchev put Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure among the Western leaders who in the opinion of the Russian leaders do not want war, MacDuffie added. Eden now is en route by ship to Washington talks with President Eisenhower next week on a variety of subjects including Soviet penetration in the Middle East. Faure is being replaced as premier in Paris.

MacDuffie described all Khrushchev's references to Eisenhower as "very friendly." He gave these additional details of the interview:

Khrushchev deplored the so-called "brink of war" article about Secretary of State Dulles in Life magazine, and noted that Eisenhower told a news conference last week he had not read it.

Khrushchev said that he, Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov—all of whom were at the 1955 Geneva summit conference—are convinced the American leaders — among them President Eisenhower—basically strive for peace and do not want war.

MacDuffie said he believed Khrushchev was speaking of the current opinion of Soviet leaders about American leaders.

MacDuffie was chief of the U. N. Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in the Soviet Ukraine immediately after World War II. He met Khrushchev, the in Kiev, in that period. He made trips to the Soviet Union in 1953 and 1954 and had interviews with Khrushchev both times.

'World Peace' Note Is Given To President

Propaganda Move, Top Administration Strategists Indicate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Soviet ambassador paid an extraordinary call at the White House today and handed President Eisenhower Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin's newest proposal on how to promote "world peace."

The White House quickly put a top secret label on the Soviet proposition, reporting little beyond the fact that Bulganin advanced his views in a "friendly letter." Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin first read the letter to Eisenhower, and then gave it to him.

At first a belief was widespread that the letter dealt with disarmament—a problem Eisenhower and Bulganin have dealt with personally since last August. However, an air of mystery was added when a well-posted informant said the document did not discuss disarmament very much.

Seen Propaganda Move

This source said it dealt mainly with another problem "involving Soviet-American relations."

The White House did say that Bulganin, who has been missing from Moscow since last Jan. 3, set forth "certain ideas which the Premier has asked the President to study further in the interest of promoting world peace."

Despite official reticence, top administration officials indicated they continued to regard Bulganin's letter as a cleverly timed propaganda move intended to undercut Eisenhower's meeting next week with British Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

Eden is en route to the United States for cold war strategy conferences with the President which are expected to chart new joint moves to offset Russia's economic and political policies.

Stassen Tells Of Problem

While the Soviet ambassador was at the White House, Harold E. Stassen, the President's top adviser on disarmament, was on Capitol Hill telling a Senate subcommittee about technical difficulties barring the way to any surefire disarmament agreement with the Russians.

No scientific method has been developed yet, he said, by which hidden hydrogen and atomic bombs "can be detected 100 yards away."

Stassen expressed hope "the force of world opinion" eventually will compel the Soviets to agree to the Eisenhower plan for mutual aerial inspection as the beginning of a series of steps which eventually will achieve disarmament.

Hotel Emptied In Bomb Scare

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 25 (AP)— A mysterious telephone tip that a bomb would "blow" at noon chased 500 guests from this city's second biggest hotel today.

Officials labeled the scare a hoax and allowed them to return 36 minutes after the deadline.

The scare was at the Newhouse Hotel, where 400 meals were scheduled to be served. As things returned to normal, the kitchen help, instead of washing dishes, tossed 300 of the meals into the garbage because the various dinners were canceled by the delay.

Hotel Manager Don Utley and police Chief Odes B. Record decided to reopen the building after a hurried search by police and firemen failed to turn up a bomb.

The tip came just after 11:30 a.m. Telephone operator Mrs. Myrtle Jones said a deep man's voice on an incoming line said:

Not 'Veep' Candidate, Mrs. Luce Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce said after a meeting with President Eisenhower today she was "definitely and irrevocably" not a candidate for the Republican nomination for vice president.

Mrs. Luce also denied a new flurry of rumors she was about to quit her diplomatic post. She said emphatically "I intend to remain" in Rome "as long as the President and Secretary of State Dulles believe I am doing a good job."

29 Slain In N. Africa

ALGIERS, Algeria, Jan. 25 (AP)— The French said today at least 29 Nationalists have been killed in clashes in Algeria and Tunisia in 24 hours up to this evening. Two French soldiers were wounded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—A safety door jammed on the isolated Manhattan end of the new Lincoln Tunnel tube today and the Hudson River flooded the underground approach. The main tube was not affected.

"It was like a dam breaking," said Fred Rodrigues, 27, one of three sandhogs who, weighted down with heavy working gear, swam for their lives in the dark, surging waters.

A 12-hour flow of river water into the nearly one third of a mile long tunnel section finally was stemmed in late afternoon. A diver, Raymond J. Campbell, 48, working under water in intense cold, forced the safety door shut.

Pumps were to be put to work tomorrow to remove the water. There was no indication of any major delay in the tunnel project, scheduled for completion next year.

Twelfth Avenue was closed to traffic for a time, lest water undermine it and cause a collapse.

The new 100-million-dollar third tube of the Lincoln Tunnel is being bored from the New Jersey side of the Hudson. The 1,500 foot shaft beneath the river bed has been pushed to a point even with the Manhattan river bank in midtown.

Meanwhile, a work shaft and tunnel approach were dug through rock on the Manhattan side to await eventual linking with the main tube. It was this approach area that flooded.

The two original Lincoln tubes 175 feet to the north and the parallel new one are for motor traffic between Manhattan and New Jersey.

Abbott To Die For Kidnaping, Killing Girl, 14

Jury, Deliberating For Week, Convicts University Student

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 25 (AP) — Death in the gas chamber was decreed by a Superior Court jury today for Burton W. Abbott in the kidnaping and sex-murder of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan.

The jury of seven men and five women, which had deliberated since last Thursday, convicted the slender - faced Abbott on two counts, one of murder and one of kidnaping with bodily harm.

On the kidnaping conviction it specifically decreed the death penalty. It made no recommendation on the murder verdict, which also makes a death sentence mandatory.

Wife Found Girl's Purse

His red-haired wife, Georgia, whose discovery of Stephanie's purse in the basement of the Abbott home July 15 first pointed the finger of suspicion at her husband, was sad-faced but she kept herself under control.

The case, entirely based on circumstantial evidence, had swung largely on the ability of the prosecution to break down Abbott's alibis for his time during the day of the kidnaping and on the laboratory evidence developed by Dr. Paul R. Kirk, University of California criminologist.

Stephanie vanished April 28 in Berkeley. The disappearance of the dark-haired, quiet little girl, was a mystery until July 15. Then, by accident, Mrs. Abbott found Stephanie's purse in the basement of the Abbott home in Alameda.

Body In Shallow Grave

Five days later, Stephanie's body bludgeoned and decomposed, was found in a shallow grave near the Abbott summer cabin 250 miles to the north in a wilderness area. Abbott admitted he went to that cabin April 28 but insisted he had left his home for the cabin before the girl was kidnaped.

The key incriminating testimony in the case came from Dr. Kirk who said two hairs and 18 fibers found in Abbott's car matched Stephanie's head and clothing; also that clay nine inches down in the grave matched clay on Abbott's boots.

Molotov, Zhukov At Pact Meeting

VIENNA, Austria, Jan. 25 (AP)— Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov arrived by plane in Czechoslovakia today for a meeting of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact countries. Diplomatic observers speculated the meeting would be used as a forum for a new propagnada campaign to urge disbandment of the West's North Atlantic Alliance.

The meeting was regarded by these observers as important in this respect: It would show the outlines of a forthcoming Soviet attempt to frighten Western Europe into the idea that military alliances might lead to war on the Continent.

It will likely be accompanied by a renewed Soviet demand for an All - European security arrangement which eventually could lead to recognition of Communist East Germany by Western Nations as a sovereign state.

Besides Molotov and Zhukov, the Soviet delegation included Marshal Ivan S. Konev, commander in chief of the eight-nation alliance of European Communist countries. The alliance was put together last year as a Soviet answer to NATO.

The delegates will attend the first meeting of the political consultative group in Prague.

Jurors Ask Leniency For "Mercy" Slayer

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP) — A mother was indicted today on a manslaughter charge in the shooting of her 35-year-old epileptic son but the grand jury recommended leniency.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Langevin, 56, of Menands, was indicted for first-degree manslaughter for the death of her son, Leonard Leadbetter, who was killed with a rifle as he slept last Oct. 31.

The mother's second husband, Joseph Langevin, said she had been "pressed beyond endurance" by the condition of her son, who had been ill since he was 8. Langevin said she had brooded about what would happen if she were to die before her son.

A Job Well Done

Veteran diver Raymond J. Campbell, 48, second from left, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., greets engineers and newsmen with a smile after forcing shut a safety door yesterday to stem a flood of water on the isolated end of the new Lincoln Tunnel tube in New York. Working under water in intense cold, Campbell succeeded in halting the flow into a 1,650-foot section which is to be joined by the main shaft of the tunnel now being bored under the Hudson river from New Jersey. Kefauver Sees Chances 'Good' In N.H. Primary

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 25 (AP)— Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) formally entered the New Hampshire presidential primary today and said he thinks his chances to repeat his 1952 victory here "are very good."

While the tall Tennessean's supporters were filing papers to place his name in the Democratic preference poll, backers of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) were predicting Knowland's name would be entered on the GOP ballot as "a precautionary move" in the event President Eisenhower decides not to run.

Kefauver's organized forces also filed a complete slate of 12 candidates in the nation's first presidential primary March 13.

They will seek election as Democratic National Convention delegates pledged to give the state's eight votes to Kefauver.

There seemed little doubt that supporters of Adlai Stevenson will enter a delegate slate before the Feb. 11 filing deadline. The party's 1952 standard bearer has refused Kefauver's challenge for a direct battle in the preference poll section of the two-part ballot.

Meanwhile, two Knowland backers predicted the Senate minority leader's name would be entered "as a precautionary measure in case the President decides against seeking reelection."

State Rep. Rita Collyer (R-Lisbon) and Marshall J. Rice of Manchester, who have filed as delegate candidates favorable to Knowland, explained their reasoning this way in separate interviews:

Although Knowland is apparently anxious to run, he would give complete support to Eisenhower if the President runs. But because there have been reports the President might not make public his decision until mid-February, Knowland fears he might be "frozen out" of the early primaries.

410 Died In Mines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines today reported 410 workers were killed in coal mine accidents during 1955, an increase of 15 over the previous year.

Ike Will Outline Health Legislation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower sends Congress tomorrow a special message on health legislation. It will outline in more detail proposals he has described as "necessary to fill significant gaps in the nation's programs for promoting good health."

Apparently the message will omit any strong call for Eisenhower's previously recommended system of federal reinsurance of private health insurance plans to provide increased benefits for more people.

He suggested such a program in 1954 and again last year, but it made little headway in Congress. The American Medical Assn. opposed the idea on the grounds it would constitute an opening wedge to socialized medicine.

IBM To Release Patents To All

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—International Business Machines Corp. today agreed to release its valuable patents to all comers. Settling a government antitrust suit, IBM also agreed to the outright sale of many tabulating devices heretofore available only on a rental basis.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced these company concessions were included, with others, in a consent judgment entered in the Federal District Court at New York City.

The action terminated a monopoly action filed by the Justice Department in January, 1952. The government charged at that time that 90 per cent of all tabulating machines in the United States were owned by IBM and that IBM business practices had excluded others from the field.

Government attorneys said IBM now collects about 250 million dollars annually on rentals of tabulating and electronic processing machines which it has refused to sell to users.

Some of these "electronic brains" machines rent for more than $500,000 per year.

Antisegregation School Aid Rider Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower suggested to Congress today that it keep the segregation issue out of school aid legislation.

He told his news conference that nothing should be written into the legislation "that delays the construction" of schools.

On the other hand, Eisenhower spoke of his devotion to the Supreme Court's decision barring segregation in schools and said "I will understand why they are doing it" if the nation's lawmakers write in an antisegregation rider.

Powell Leads Rider Forces

The question arose as a result of a move by some congressmen, led by a Negro, Rep. Powell (D-NY), to write into the school aid bill a provision that federal money would be denied states which continue to practice school segregation.

Leaders of both parties in the House have said they believe such an amendment might be approved. It was beaten down in committee but Powell has said he will revive the question when the bill by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa) reaches the House floor.

Dixie Opposition Certain

Kelley's bill would provide $1,600,000 in federal aid money over a four-year period. Eisenhower has since asked for 1¼ billions over five years.

If the House approves the anti-segregation amendment, Southern senators are expected to fight it, perhaps with a filibuster.

The President called the segregation issue "a tough one" but suggested that it be laid aside in this instance in favor of getting a school aid bill quickly.

'World Peace' Note Is Given To President

Propaganda Move, Top Administration Strategists Indicate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Soviet ambassador paid an extraordinary call at the White House today and handed President Eisenhower Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin's newest proposal on how to promote "world peace."

The White House quickly put a top secret label on the Soviet proposition, reporting little beyond the fact that Bulganin advanced his views in a "friendly letter." Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin first read the letter to Eisenhower, and then gave it to him.

At first a belief was widespread that the letter dealt with disarmament—a problem Eisenhower and Bulganin have dealt with personally since last August. However, an air of mystery was added when a well-posted informant said the document did not discuss disarmament very much.

Seen Propaganda Move

This source said it dealt mainly with another problem "involving Soviet-American relations."

The White House did say that Bulganin, who has been missing from Moscow since last Jan. 3, set forth "certain ideas which the Premier has asked the President to study further in the interest of promoting world peace."

Despite official reticence, top administration officials indicated they continued to regard Bulganin's letter as a cleverly timed propaganda move intended to undercut Eisenhower's meeting next week with British Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

Eden is en route to the United States for cold war strategy conferences with the President which are expected to chart new joint moves to offset Russia's economic and political policies.

Stassen Tells Of Problem

While the Soviet ambassador was at the White House, Harold E. Stassen, the President's top adviser on disarmament, was on Capitol Hill telling a Senate subcommittee about technical difficulties barring the way to any surefire disarmament agreement with the Russians.

No scientific method has been developed yet, he said, by which hidden hydrogen and atomic bombs "can be detected 100 yards away."

Stassen expressed hope "the force of world opinion" eventually will compel the Soviets to agree to the Eisenhower plan for mutual aerial inspection as the beginning of a series of steps which eventually will achieve disarmament.

Hotel Emptied In Bomb Scare

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 25 (AP)— A mysterious telephone tip that a bomb would "blow" at noon chased 500 guests from this city's second biggest hotel today.

Officials labeled the scare a hoax and allowed them to return 36 minutes after the deadline.

The scare was at the Newhouse Hotel, where 400 meals were scheduled to be served. As things returned to normal, the kitchen help, instead of washing dishes, tossed 300 of the meals into the garbage because the various dinners were canceled by the delay.

Hotel Manager Don Utley and police Chief Odes B. Record decided to reopen the building after a hurried search by police and firemen failed to turn up a bomb.

The tip came just after 11:30 a.m. Telephone operator Mrs. Myrtle Jones said a deep man's voice on an incoming line said:

Not 'Veep' Candidate, Mrs. Luce Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce said after a meeting with President Eisenhower today she was "definitely and irrevocably" not a candidate for the Republican nomination for vice president.

Mrs. Luce also denied a new flurry of rumors she was about to quit her diplomatic post. She said emphatically "I intend to remain" in Rome "as long as the President and Secretary of State Dulles believe I am doing a good job."

Khrushchev Quoted As Saying Soviets Convinced Eisenhower Seeks Peace

MOSCOW, Jan. 25 (AP) — A New York lawyer quoted Nikita S. Khrushchev as saying today that he and other Soviet Leaders are convinced President Eisenhower and his advisers are striving for peace.

Marshall MacDuffie, a fairly frequent visitor to the Soviet Union, reported spending three hours and 10 minutes with Khrushchev, the boss of the Soviet Communist party.

The interview coincided with the delivery in Washington of a letter to President Eisenhower from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. The White House press secretary said it was a friendly letter setting forth ideas on world peace.

MacDuffie said Khrushchev told him also that Soviet leaders believed there should be a further relaxation of international relations.

The attorney met with Khrushchev in Communist party headquarters amid preparations for the 20th party Congress.

Khrushchev put Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure among the Western leaders who in the opinion of the Russian leaders do not want war, MacDuffie added. Eden now is en route by ship to Washington talks with President Eisenhower next week on a variety of subjects including Soviet penetration in the Middle East. Faure is being replaced as premier in Paris.

MacDuffie described all Khrushchev's references to Eisenhower as "very friendly." He gave these additional details of the interview:

Khrushchev deplored the so-called "brink of war" article about Secretary of State Dulles in Life magazine, and noted that Eisenhower told a news conference last week he had not read it.

Khrushchev said that he, Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov—all of whom were at the 1955 Geneva summit conference—are convinced the American leaders — among them President Eisenhower—basically strive for peace and do not want war.

MacDuffie said he believed Khrushchev was speaking of the current opinion of Soviet leaders about American leaders.

MacDuffie was chief of the U. N. Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in the Soviet Ukraine immediately after World War II. He met Khrushchev, the in Kiev, in that period. He made trips to the Soviet Union in 1953 and 1954 and had interviews with Khrushchev both times.

Counselled Ike Not To Run In 1948, Truman Reveals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Former President Truman says he counselled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower against running for the presidency in 1948.

That was the year Truman himself won the presidency in his own right.

Truman, in a new installment of his memoirs, says he is sure Eisenhower in 1948 was against making any such campaign as the one which took him to the White House four years later.

Truman's account, appearing in Life magazine, says "professional liberals" in the Democratic party were in favor of ditching Truman and running Eisenhower as a dark horse in 1948, but:

"The boom for Eisenhower never developed . . . because the general resisted the efforts of those who tried to change his mind."

Truman says the Eisenhower-for-president talk got a boost from a conversation he had on the subject with the then Army chief of staff early in 1948.

"I asked him," Truman recalls, "if he intended to run for president. He told me that he had no intention of running for the office.

"I told him that I thought he was using good judgment. I said that I did not think he could add anything to his splendid career and that the only thing he would accomplish by getting into politics would be to detract from his reputation."

Truman, who says he ran himself that year because there was "unfinished business" left over from the administration he inherited from Franklin D. Roosevelt, makes it plain he did not consider Eisenhower qualified for the presidency.

He quotes with approval this comment which he attributes to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) on the subject of Eisenhower in 1948:

Goldstein Forces Say Ouster Move Beaten

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Supporters of Sen. Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) claimed today they had overcome a move to oust him as State Senate president.

A Democratic senator who declined use of his name said: "We are assured of ample support for his re-election.

He said the matter was settled at a meeting here last weekend at the home of Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel), at which Sen. John Grason Turnbull (D-Balto County) assured Goldstein backers he also would support the Calvert senator.

Turnbull, majority floor leader and chairman of the Finance Committee under Goldstein last year, was reported in line for the Senate presidency if a faction headed by Sens. George W. Della (D-Balto 6th) and Laymon Redden (D-Carolina) succeeded in ousting Goldstein.

Smile If You Say 'Cop' In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Policemen at headquarters here say they refer to each other as cops without a second thought, even though J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, considers the term derogatory.

A notably learned sergeant, without batting an eye, summed it up this way: "It all depends on the context, the inflection and the meaning as used in each circumstance."

Or, in simpler terms, smile when you say cop in the presence of one in St. Louis, brother.

Two Pupils Blamed For School Blaze

JERSEY CITY, N.J. Jan. 25 (AP)—Two pupils were picked up early today for allegedly setting fire to a public school, causing damage estimated at upwards of $30,000.

Detectives spotted the youngsters aged 10 and 13, minutes after the second alarm was sounded for the blaze. They said candle wax was found on the boy's clothing. Candles had been used, police said, to ignite books and baskets of paper on each floor of the school.

The three-story school was closed. The 700 pupils will attend classes in two other schools.

Mental Hospital "Eruption" Fear Noted In Report

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Maryland's overcrowded State hospital wards for insane criminals were described to Gov. McKeldin today as a "smoldering volcano" which may erupt at any time.

The Mental Hygiene Board of Review, in its annual report, said "with very little provision made for the release of pent-up physical energy through social activities or rehabilitation, we might expect a tragic eruption at any time."

The board called attention to what it termed a serious situation caused by overcrowding and said "every hospital exceeds in patient population its rated capacity for adequate treatment for operation, even though in recent years there has been marked improvement in numerous old buildings, and several new wards have been constructed.

"Two definite causes of this condition," the report added, "are the increased number of infant children at Rosewood (State Training School) and of elderly people at the other four institutions."

The report noted that both Hillcrest for white patients and Crownsville State Hospital for Negroes need immediate attention and it urged haste in "bringing to a realization the plan now in its formative stage for the erection of a new facility to house these inmates."

BTC Offer Indicated

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—There were indications today that the Baltimore Transit Co. has made a wage offer in its continuing negotiations to avoid a strike by its streetcar, bus and trolley operators.

The Transit Workers Union's current contract, which ended a 19-day strike in 1952, expires Saturday and the union has authorized its negotiations to call a strike anytime after that date that they see fit.

N&W Earnings Up

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—The Norfolk and Western Railway earned 48 per cent more last year than in 1954.

The report released today shows the railroad earned $38,209,735 last year compared with $25,840,324 the previous year.

Police Couldn't See Stolen Auto For Looking At It

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—Last Dec. 15, Mike Sgouros reported his car stolen from Wheeling, 50 miles from here.

Police checked, and the car was Sgouros'. The owner looked at the speedometer and determined it had been driven only the 50 miles from Wheeling where it had been stolen.

State Demo Leaders Neutral For Present

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Maryland's Democratic national committeeman, told emissaries of New York's Gov. Averell Harriman today that the Free State's party leaders will remain neutral for the time being.

After a 90-minute conference with Carmine DeSapio, Tammany Hall chieftain, and Rep. Buckley (D-N.Y.), both Harriman boosters, D'Alesandro said the New Yorkers had asked that Maryland's votes to the Democratic presidential nominating convention in Chicago be pledged to Harriman.

The mayor said he assured DeSapio and Buckley that "we like Harriman." But as he has told Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), and James Finnigan, campaign manager for Adlai Stevenson, Maryland will remain neutral for the present.

Louis Wolfson Resigns As Ward & Co. Director

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — Financier Louis E. Wolfson today announced his resignation, effective Friday, as a director of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Wolfson said in a statement that he was taking this action "since practically all of our program has been put into operation at Montgomery Ward" and because he wishes to devote all his time to Meritt-Chapman & Scott, construction firm which he heads.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—There were indications today that the Baltimore Transit Co. has made a wage offer in its continuing negotiations to avoid a strike by its streetcar, bus and trolley operators.

The Transit Workers Union's current contract, which ended a 19-day strike in 1952, expires Saturday and the union has authorized its negotiations to call a strike anytime after that date that they see fit.

N&W Earnings Up

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—The Norfolk and Western Railway earned 48 per cent more last year than in 1954.

The report released today shows the railroad earned $38,209,735 last year compared with $25,840,324 the previous year.

Police Couldn't See Stolen Auto For Looking At It

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—Last Dec. 15, Mike Sgouros reported his car stolen from Wheeling, 50 miles from here.

Police checked, and the car was Sgouros'. The owner looked at the speedometer and determined it had been driven only the 50 miles from Wheeling where it had been stolen.

State Demo Leaders Neutral For Present

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, Maryland's Democratic national committeeman, told emissaries of New York's Gov. Averell Harriman today that the Free State's party leaders will remain neutral for the time being.

After a 90-minute conference with Carmine DeSapio, Tammany Hall chieftain, and Rep. Buckley (D-N.Y.), both Harriman boosters, D'Alesandro said the New Yorkers had asked that Maryland's votes to the Democratic presidential nominating convention in Chicago be pledged to Harriman.

The mayor said he assured DeSapio and Buckley that "we like Harriman." But as he has told Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), and James Finnigan, campaign manager for Adlai Stevenson, Maryland will remain neutral for the present.

Louis Wolfson Resigns As Ward & Co. Director

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — Financier Louis E. Wolfson today announced his resignation, effective Friday, as a director of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Wolfson said in a statement that he was taking this action "since practically all of our program has been put into operation at Montgomery Ward" and because he wishes to devote all his time to Meritt-Chapman & Scott, construction firm which he heads.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

This is the first of two articles on Gen. Douglas MacArthur by INS Writer Bob Considine. The general celebrates his 76th birthday today.

Douglas MacArthur, the nation's most famous but least consulted authority on Far Eastern matters, will be 76 years old Thursday. In quiet but determined opposition to the policies of the last two administrations, the former supreme commander has not yet found that peace of mind he sought upon announcing that he planned to "fade away."

MacArthur, one of the most remarkable figures in modern world history, has become virtually a recluse. But it is a splendid isolation he has imposed upon himself. He lives with his vivacious wife and their studious 17-year-old son, Arthur (who would like to make music his profession) in a magnificent apartment high in the Waldorf Towers in New York City. He is seen less and less outside its memento-filled and orientally-decorated confines.

Contact with MacArthur is not readily made. The bulk of his still heavy mail, which features stacks of requests for autographed pictures, is forwarded to the office which the Army maintains for him at 90 Church Street in deference to his permanent "on duty" status as a 5-star general. Other mail is sent to the occasionally visited office which is set aside for him in the executives mansion of the Sperry Remington Rand Corporation headquarters near Norwalk, Conn. MacArthur serves as the corporation's board chairman at $60,000 a year.

Phone calls to MacArthur seldom penetrate the Waldorf switchboard and ascend to apartment 37-A. Most calls are referred to 90 Church, where Col. Sid Huff is in charge of evasive answers. The calls that do get through are from visiting dignitaries (MacArthur recently received president-elect of Brazil) and from old colleagues in arms, trusted friends and an occasional member of Congress.

But the calls seldom, if ever, are answered by MacArthur. Conrad Hilton, MacArthur's landlord, complained to a friend not long ago that he had been trying to get his famed tenant on the phone for weeks. The caller whose call gets closest to MacArthur personally finds himself talking to Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's close aide, friend and business associate, whose new book, "MacArthur: His Rendezvous With History," probably is the ultimately intimate assessment of the hero. It is not believed that MacArthur will write his autobiography. Gen. Whitney mainly decides who will see MacArthur and who will not.

Though he is impeccable in his respect for the office of the presidency, and has in the past spoken highly of Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower, MacArthur is still gripped with a cold indignation over the manner in which he was relieved of his command by Truman and is hurt by the indifference of the administration headed by his one-time aide Eisenhower. He has not forgotten, of course, the galling final military campaigns of a fabled military life when restrictions the old soldier will never be able to comprehend were imposed upon him by the Truman administration and the United Nations. He was not permitted to attack the area in which the enemy was supporting its entire campaign.

To close friends, including Gen. Whitney, who outlined it in his book, MacArthur has since revealed what he would have done in Korea if given his head. He would have augmented his American and UN forces with 30,000 troops from Chiang Kai-shek's army and made big amphibious landings, simultaneously, at the northeast and northwest tips of Korea. Each would have been assigned to drive inland along the southern side of the Yalu and join in North Central Korea, closing off the supply lines from the across the river.

When these were disposed of, MacArthur would have proposed that a belt of radioactive material be spread across the waistline of Korea over which no future invader could move his men and supplies.

The creator of this mighty dream and the major architect of victory in two great world wars hears the din of battle only in thoughtful retrospect today. He frets over "the way things are being run down there," meaning Washington and recently told a friend he wouldn't be surprised if Adlai Stevenson and a depression arrive at the White House simultaneously, after which the people will install a conservative Republican administration.

Gen. Caldara To Talk On Aircraft Safety

Brig. Gen. Joseph D. Caldara, director of Flight Safety Research for the Air Force, will head an FSR unit which will make a design presentation Monday before key designers, engineers and executives of the Glenn L. Martin firm in Baltimore.

Formerly of Mt. Savage, the son of Mrs. Minnie Caldara, San Bernardino, Calif., and the late Joseph Caldara, Gen. Caldara in his talk will present the view that many of the accidents which are charged up to pilot error and material failures can be designed out of aircraft. He is a 1931 graduate of the University of Maryland.

Sacred Concert Planned

The a capella choir of Taylor University, Upland, Ind., will present a sacred concert Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at First Methodist Church. The choir is composed of 25 female and 17 male voices. The program will be open to the public.

86-Member State Budget Committee Is Proposed

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—A bill to set up a huge 86-member committee to keep an eye on the State budget is in the planning stages and slated for introduction in the Legislature convening next Wednesday.

Sen. Philip H. Goodman (D-Fifth-Balto) said he was preparing the bill because both legislative finance committees have so much work to do they can't give the budget proper attention.

The committee would employ a $4,000 per year executive secretary and would meet in between sessions as well as during the General Assembly meetings.

There would be 14 subcommittees headed by members of the Senate Finance Committee. Each subcommittee would have a department to observe—such as health, welfare or roads.

Annual reports would be filed, with particular attention on whether the State unit spent its money in line with the intentions of the Legislature.

Goodman said chairman of the overall committee would be the chairman of the existing Senate Finance Committee.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee would become vice chairman of the overall committee. The 70 general members would be appointed by the speaker of the House.

U. Of Md. Instructors Seek Social Security

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 25 (AP)—The University of Maryland Faculty Assembly today passed a motion requesting Gov. McKeldin to provide funds in the 1956-57 budget to include university members of the teachers' retirement system in the federal Social Security system.

The motion also includes the request that legislation enable the university's participation under Social Security to be retroactive to January 1955.

The motion, which met with President Wilson H. Elkins' approval, will be presented to the Board of Regents tomorrow at its regular monthly meeting.

The action was designed to take advantage of the recent amendment of federal law to allow participants in state retirement systems to get federal Social Security as well.

Dr. Elkins, who presided at the meeting, the first Faculty Assembly gathering under the new faculty organization, told the members he felt that the State appreciated the needs of the university.

M'Keldin Certain Integration Can Be Worked Out

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today he is confident Maryland will work out the desegregation problem in as good as fashion as the earlier settlers of the state did religious freedom.

He said the state tried religious freedom "somewhat reluctantly, perhaps as reluctantly as we are now trying desegregation. But try it we did, and it proved to be in line with the march of history."

The governor told the Maryland State Society of Washington that "in the matter of desegregation my pride in Maryland is not that it has given us no trouble, but that we have tried to meet that trouble in a fashion worthy of civilized men.

"What does entitle us to credit is our prompt acceptance of equality of opportunity for all citizens as an American ideal to be striven for regardless of the difficulties it may entail," he added.

McKeldin boasted of Maryland's middle-of-the-road role and said, "I believe that Maryland today is as steady as any state in the union."

But he said problems have been created in government by the state's rapid growth, which he described as explosive rather than expansive.

"We have recently had trouble in more than one department," he said without naming any specific ones.

"Some of it, perhaps, may have been attributable to misconduct, but that constitutes no great threat, for we know how to handle misconduct.

"What is far more serious is the fact that some departments are breaking down simply because their organization was never designed to carry the load now thrown upon it," he added.

There are 10 million, 500 thousand acres of forest land in East Texas at present better adapted to timber growing than any other use.

Remarks In Court Cost Motorist $25

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 25 (AP) — Clyde F. Brown, 21, of Hagerstown, was fined $15 today for a motor vehicle violation and moments later he was fined $25 more for remarks made after imposition of the first fine.

After an accident recently Brown was charged with passing another car on the right.

Magistrate Paul Ottinger fined him $15 on that charge.

Mrs. Carolyn Judge, clerk to the magistrate, and Constable W. O. Lum said the man made a remark about the court being "crooked" as he paid his fine. And outside the courtroom Magistrate Ottinger overheard another remark about money being "passed in the courtroom."

Brown was ordered back into court, charged with disorderly conduct and fined $25 more.

Special Session To Be Requested

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Baltimore's Board of Estimates decided today to ask Gov. McKeldin to call a special session of the Legislature so a school construction financing bill may be passed.

It is contended the legislation is necessary or school construction will be halted in 1958. Previously, Mayor D'Alesandro had asked for a special session but the governor declined, pending receipt of more complete information.

Walter Sondheim, president of the school board has outlined details of the city's need for a 15 million dollar school bond and D'Alesandro forwarded the information to the governor.

If authorization for a referendum on the loan were granted by a special session of the Legislature, the voters could pass on it next November. The special session could be held right after the regular 30-day session ends in early March.

The regular 30-day session begins next Wednesday.

Sondheim said if it is necessary to wait for the 1957 Legislature, the electorate would not get an opportunity to vote until 1958.

Sen. Nock Fights Auto Tag Boost

SALISBURY, Jan. 25 (AP) — Sen. Mary Nock (D-Wicomico) contended today Maryland has enough money for highways and she said she'll continue to battle a scheduled $8-$10 boost in auto license fees.

There would be greater boosts in the price of tags for other vehicles.

After last year's Legislature, Gov. McKeldin vetoed a bill that would have put off the increase.

Sen. Nock said "I shall vote to override the veto and will work to influence others to do the same. They've got enough money up there"

The 1956 General Assembly convenes next Wednesday.

The added revenue would go toward Maryland's 12-year roads program.

Sen. Nock said the State Roads Commission has acknowledged that more money has been collected without the license tag increase than it had been anticipated would come in with the increase.

86-Member State Budget Committee Is Proposed

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—A bill to set up a huge 86-member committee to keep an eye on the State budget is in the planning stages and slated for introduction in the Legislature convening next Wednesday.

Sen. Philip H. Goodman (D-Fifth-Balto) said he was preparing the bill because both legislative finance committees have so much work to do they can't give the budget proper attention.

The committee would employ a $4,000 per year executive secretary and would meet in between sessions as well as during the General Assembly meetings.

There would be 14 subcommittees headed by members of the Senate Finance Committee. Each subcommittee would have a department to observe—such as health, welfare or roads.

Annual reports would be filed, with particular attention on whether the State unit spent its money in line with the intentions of the Legislature.

Goodman said chairman of the overall committee would be the chairman of the existing Senate Finance Committee.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee would become vice chairman of the overall committee. The 70 general members would be appointed by the speaker of the House.

U. Of Md. Instructors Seek Social Security

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 25 (AP)—The University of Maryland Faculty Assembly today passed a motion requesting Gov. McKeldin to provide funds in the 1956-57 budget to include university members of the teachers' retirement system in the federal Social Security system.

The motion also includes the request that legislation enable the university's participation under Social Security to be retroactive to January 1955.

The motion, which met with President Wilson H. Elkins' approval, will be presented to the Board of Regents tomorrow at its regular monthly meeting.

The action was designed to take advantage of the recent amendment of federal law to allow participants in state retirement systems to get federal Social Security as well.

Dr. Elkins, who presided at the meeting, the first Faculty Assembly gathering under the new faculty organization, told the members he felt that the State appreciated the needs of the university.

M'Keldin Certain Integration Can Be Worked Out

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today he is confident Maryland will work out the desegregation problem in as good as fashion as the earlier settlers of the state did religious freedom.

He said the state tried religious freedom "somewhat reluctantly, perhaps as reluctantly as we are now trying desegregation. But try it we did, and it proved to be in line with the march of history."

The governor told the Maryland State Society of Washington that "in the matter of desegregation my pride in Maryland is not that it has given us no trouble, but that we have tried to meet that trouble in a fashion worthy of civilized men.

"What does entitle us to credit is our prompt acceptance of equality of opportunity for all citizens as an American ideal to be striven for regardless of the difficulties it may entail," he added.

McKeldin boasted of Maryland's middle-of-the-road role and said, "I believe that Maryland today is as steady as any state in the union."

But he said problems have been created in government by the state's rapid growth, which he described as explosive rather than expansive.

"We have recently had trouble in more than one department," he said without naming any specific ones.

"Some of it, perhaps, may have been attributable to misconduct, but that constitutes no great threat, for we know how to handle misconduct.

"What is far more serious is the fact that some departments are breaking down simply because their organization was never designed to carry the load now thrown upon it," he added.

There are 10 million, 500 thousand acres of forest land in East Texas at present better adapted to timber growing than any other use.

Remarks In Court Cost Motorist $25

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 25 (AP) — Clyde F. Brown, 21, of Hagerstown, was fined $15 today for a motor vehicle violation and moments later he was fined $25 more for remarks made after imposition of the first fine.

After an accident recently Brown was charged with passing another car on the right.

Magistrate Paul Ottinger fined him $15 on that charge.

Mrs. Carolyn Judge, clerk to the magistrate, and Constable W. O. Lum said the man made a remark about the court being "crooked" as he paid his fine. And outside the courtroom Magistrate Ottinger overheard another remark about money being "passed in the courtroom."

Brown was ordered back into court, charged with disorderly conduct and fined $25 more.

Special Session To Be Requested

BALTIMORE, Jan. 25 (AP)—Baltimore's Board of Estimates decided today to ask Gov. McKeldin to call a special session of the Legislature so a school construction financing bill may be passed.

It is contended the legislation is necessary or school construction will be halted in 1958. Previously, Mayor D'Alesandro had asked for a special session but the governor declined, pending receipt of more complete information.

Walter Sondheim, president of the school board has outlined details of the city's need for a 15 million dollar school bond and D'Alesandro forwarded the information to the governor.

If authorization for a referendum on the loan were granted by a special session of the Legislature, the voters could pass on it next November. The special session could be held right after the regular 30-day session ends in early March.

The regular 30-day session begins next Wednesday.

Sondheim said if it is necessary to wait for the 1957 Legislature, the electorate would not get an opportunity to vote until 1958.

Sen. Nock Fights Auto Tag Boost

SALISBURY, Jan. 25 (AP) — Sen. Mary Nock (D-Wicomico) contended today Maryland has enough money for highways and she said she'll continue to battle a scheduled $8-$10 boost in auto license fees.

There would be greater boosts in the price of tags for other vehicles.

After last year's Legislature, Gov. McKeldin vetoed a bill that would have put off the increase.

Sen. Nock said "I shall vote to override the veto and will work to influence others to do the same. They've got enough money up there"

The 1956 General Assembly convenes next Wednesday.

The added revenue would go toward Maryland's 12-year roads program.

Sen. Nock said the State Roads Commission has acknowledged that more money has been collected without the license tag increase than it had been anticipated would come in with the increase.

Bake Sales Discontinued For Winter

The WSCS of Murley's Branch Church decided to discontinue the monthly bake sales during the winter. Donations were received from the society, Mrs. Andrew Twigg and Mrs. Homer Willison.

Mrs. Edward Kolb and Mrs. Vernon Shriver were cohostesses at the latter's home. Mrs. Kolb presided at the meeting which opened with group singing of "Rock of Ages." Roll call was answered with each giving a Bible verse. Reports were given by Mrs. Paul Browning, and each secretary. Mrs. Justin Heavner thanked the group for its assistance with the Christmas program. Mrs. Paul Robinette talked on "Better To Light One Candle." Mrs. Dewey Weicht gave a reading in memory of Mrs. Ella Gordon, who, two years before her death December 17, was awarded a life membership pin. A New Year's reading and prayer also were given by Mrs. Weicht.

Mrs. Justin Heavner conducted devotions consisting of a Scripture reading, group singing of "Work for the Night Is Coming," "Faith of Our Fathers," and readings, "A World of Confusion," Mrs. Paul Robinette; "Christians Are Responsible," and "Four," by Mrs. Eugene Kisamore and closing prayer by Mrs. Charles Shriver. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Eston Heavner giving the blessing.

Man Found Dead In South End

A 63-year-old Flintstone man was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon after he was found lying on a South End pavement.

The dead man, James Walter "Nick" Ash Sr., was custodian at the Goodfellowship Club on Virginia Avenue. Rr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to natural causes. Mr. Ash had been in ill health for about 10 years.

A native and life-long resident of Flintstone, he was a son of Mrs. Jennie (Diehl) Ash, Flintstone, and the late Jackson Ash, and was born September 15, 1892.

He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Goodfellowship Club.

Surviving are a son, James Walter Ash Jr., Korea; two brothers, Thomas R. and Harry R. Ash, both of Flintstone; a sister, Mrs. C. H. Robinette, Flintstone, and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

KEYSER—Attorney John Hamilton yesterday announced his candidacy for Mineral County prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primary elections May 8.

Sears Opens Keyser Store

KEYSER — Sears, Roebuck and Company opens its new place in Keyser today, according to an announcement made by the manager. The store will occupy the two floors of the building owned by Ralph O. Martin, who formerly conducted a furniture business there, and which was later occupied by Wolf Furniture company.

The company is offering residents of this area an opportunity to see furniture on display and make their purchases, for that and other merchandise, from the Sears catalogue and can have deliveries made within a few days. A budget plan of shopping has been set up for customers, through a credit system inaugurated here.

George Wilhere, formerly manager of the company's Morgantown store, is manager of the local store. He will have assisting him, a staff of five local young women, Mrs. Ethel Shumaker, Mrs. Margaret Oates, Mrs. Helen Doll, Mrs. Katheryn Oss and Mrs. Rosemary Ervin.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The bills of complaint were titled Hubert B. Dyer vs. Marie Helen Dyer and Gloria R. Dawson vs. William Herbert Dawson.

URSULINE WINNER—Elaine Bingaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Bingaman, 8 Millman Place, will represent Ursuline Academy in the state Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. When asked about the written aptitude test, Elaine said she had no idea of winning, but hopes to do her best in the state contest. The hardest question in the test, she said, was on budgeting and managing money, while she considered the essay about family, church, school and industry the easiest. English and homemaking are her favorite studies, and recipes for any desserts are her favorites.

Irma Lee Leasure Becomes Bride Of Richard Wamsley

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leasure, Euclid Place, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Irma Lee Leasure, to Richard C. Wamsley, Te/3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wamsley, Cresaptown.

The double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized by Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, January 12 in the home of the bridegroom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bowser, Eckhart, were their attendants.

The bride, who attended Allegany High School, is residing at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bridegroom, who also attended Allegany High School, has been serving with the Navy for the past four and one half years, and is stationed at Norfolk, Va.

Others attending the wedding ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scarcilli, Eckhart; Mrs. Leasure and daughters Shirley and Joan; Miss Deloris Eversole, Miss Carolyn Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Wamsley and daughter Margaret.

Jackileen Pennel Selects Attendants For Wedding

Miss Jackileen Pennel, fiancee of James E. Kaiser, has selected Miss Janet Crabtree to be her maid of honor for the wedding February 4, while Miss Susan M. Kaiser and Miss Viola Mae Plummer will be her bridesmaids. Cpl. Melvin E. Smith, USMC, will serve as best man, and the ushers also are members of the Marine Corps.

There also will be a Marine Corps guard of honor from Quantico, Va., for the double-ring military ceremony, which is to be solemnized at 7:30 p. m. in Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Howard Amos, D. D., officiating.

James R. Hager and Stanford W. Zollner are to be the vocalists with Mrs. Kenneth Beck as accompanist and as organist for the nuptial music.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Delbert Hager, Route 2, Williams Road, is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1954. While there she was a member of the Tri-Hi-Y, National Honor Society, National Thespian Society, of which she was vice president; was in the Ushers Club, on the Sabre staff, Student Council, Junior Town Meeting and Fort Hill Players. She is employed on the staff at Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kaiser, Broadway. He was graduated in 1953 from Fort Hill High School, where he had been active in sports and dramatics. Prior to entering the Marine Corps in January 1955, he was employed as an apprentice plumber by Charles Simpson and as an apprentice carpenter by Harold Bollinger. He is on leave from Lakehurst, N. J., and will report to the Second Marine Air Wing at Cherry Point, N. C., next month.

Mrs. Hager will entertain with a wedding reception honoring her daughter and her bridal party, in the church social hall following the ceremony.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Homemakers Decide Upon 2 Projects

A suggestion to have a club project was approved at the meeting of the Bowling Green Homemakers Club, recently at Circle Inn. A needlepoint class will be organized at the next meeting in conjunction with the Home Furnishing chairman's demonstration; and an aluminum tray making project will be taken up later.

Mrs. Russel Shrontz presided and announced a tour planned by the County Council for the spring; and publicity and parliamentary training meetings.

Chairmen were announced. They are Clothing, Mrs. Harrison Shanholtz; Food and Nutrition, Mrs. William Beck, Mrs. William Knotts; Health and Safety, Mrs. Garland Chaney; Home Furnishing, Mrs. Lakin Root; Home Management, Mrs. William Watson; Home and Yard Beautification, Mrs. Coit Speicher; Art and Music, Mrs. George Hansel; Reading and Blue Cross, Mrs. Helen Assif; Recreation, Mrs. Francis Sweene; Citizenship, Mrs. F. DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Native New Pastor Of Elkins Church

Rev. L. Stanley Whitson, a native of Cumberland, has accepted a call as pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church at Elkins, W. Va., and will assume his duties there on April 15.

Rev. Mr. Whitson, a graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) College and Gettysburg Seminary, has been pastor of three churches in the Clear Spring parish for seven years. He is married and the father of one child, a son.

Rev. Mr. Whitson succeeds Rev. Charles W. Strausser at the Elkins church. Rev. Mr. Strausser resigned the pastorate to enter the Air Force as a chaplain. He is currently stationed at Rome, N. Y.

Reported Improving

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday reported the condition of Carl W. Miller, 524 Columbia Avenue, as "improved." Miller was admitted Monday after swallowing disinfectant.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If, when you are going to fry oysters, you add a teaspoon of celery salt to the cracker crumbs in which you are going to roll them before frying, the celery salt will give them a pleasant flavor.

'Citizens Now' Conference Slated For Explorer Scouts

The "Citizens Now" conference for Explorer Scouts in Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will be held Saturday at Potomac State College, Keyser, according to Willis V. Smith, council scout executive.

The five Explorer Scouts and the three adult advisors who attended the regional Citizens Now conference at Bucknell University this past summer will conduct the day long meeting.

David Nuzum of the college faculty, is general chairman. He and Raymond McCullough of Frostburg and Wilbert Sifton, council field executive accompanied the five Explorers to Bucknell.

The five Explorers, who are boys 14 years of age or older, are Alton Fortney Jr., Piedmont; James Wilcox, Keyser; Karl Taschenberger, Cumberland, Jerry Huff, Mt. Savage, and Richard Nance, Oakland.

Smith said the object of the conference is to make the older Scouts realize their responsibilities as citizens now, not waiting until they are adults.

The five Explorers will be discussion leaders for such topics: How late should we be permitted to stay out? How much should parents discipline us? Should parents help us pick our friends?

The Explorers will hear these men discuss the following topics: Joseph Blundon, Keyser attorney, "Home and Community;" Dr. R. B. Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, "Joy of Service," and Edmund S. Burke, president of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, "Opportunities."

LaSalle Winter Festival Slated

Final preparations for the LaSalle Winter Festival were made at a joint committee meeting of committees from the Men of LaSalle and the LaSalle Mothers Club Monday in LaSalle High School.

The festival is scheduled Tuesday, January 31; Wednesday, February 1, and Thursday, February 2 in SS. Peter and Paul Parish Hall.

The event will open with a roast pork and ham supper to be served 5 p. m. to 8 p. m. on the first night.

On the other two nights, the festival will open at 7:30 p. m. Music will be provided by Mrs. Anne Moore Newnam on an electric organ to be installed in the hall for the event.

The Steckman Dance Studio will furnish the entertainment on Wednesday evening.

Friends Aware Plan Meeting Tonight

Friends Aware of Handicapped Children will meet today at 8 p. m. in the Cumberland Savings Bank.

Tickets and money collected for last night's benefit dance at the Elks Club will be turned in to the treasurer at the meeting.

Honolulu has never been hotter than 90 degrees nor colder than 52 degrees in the history of the U. S. weather bureau.

Market's Recovery Drive Bogs Down, Loses Punch

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — The recovery movement in the stock market continued for the second session today, but it bogged down and lost its punch.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 90 cents at $174.70. It advanced $2.20 yesterday. At the first of the year the average stood at $180.20.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.50, rails were up 50 cents, and utilities gained 10 cents.

The list was composed of 1,174 individual issues of which 569 were higher and 347 lower with 21 highs and 6 lows for 1955-56.

General Motors was in its accustomed position as most active issue off ⅛ at 43⅞, and it was followed by Westinghouse Electric up ⅝ at 58½, U. S. Steel up ½ at 55, Burroughs up ¼ at 29¾, and Avco off ⅛ at 7.

Montgomery Ward, up 2⅞ yesterday, gained 1⅛ today at 89½ as Louis E. Wolfson announced he was resigning as a director. Wolfson sought to gain control of the company in a proxy fight last year.

Western Auto Supply hit a high of 37 and closed at 34⅜ up 3⅛ on that Canadian interests wanted to buy 300,000 shares of the stock from stockholders at 38.

Position Of Treasury

Market's Recovery Drive Bogs Down, Loses Punch

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — The recovery movement in the stock market continued for the second session today, but it bogged down and lost its punch.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 90 cents at $174.70. It advanced $2.20 yesterday. At the first of the year the average stood at $180.20.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.50, rails were up 50 cents, and utilities gained 10 cents.

The list was composed of 1,174 individual issues of which 569 were higher and 347 lower with 21 highs and 6 lows for 1955-56.

General Motors was in its accustomed position as most active issue off ⅛ at 43⅞, and it was followed by Westinghouse Electric up ⅝ at 58½, U. S. Steel up ½ at 55, Burroughs up ¼ at 29¾, and Avco off ⅛ at 7.

Montgomery Ward, up 2⅞ yesterday, gained 1⅛ today at 89½ as Louis E. Wolfson announced he was resigning as a director. Wolfson sought to gain control of the company in a proxy fight last year.

Western Auto Supply hit a high of 37 and closed at 34⅜ up 3⅛ on that Canadian interests wanted to buy 300,000 shares of the stock from stockholders at 38.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury Jan. 20:

Balance $2,931,846,283.56; deposits fiscal year July 1 $32,137,290,106.16; withdrawals fiscal year $39,969,044,638.45; total debt $280,182,319,757.63X; gold assets $21,692,167,054.08.

X-Includes $472,170,449.05 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 (AP)—Most grains had a slightly easier undertone on the Board of Trade today. Losses never exceeded fractions but dealings were a little more active than on the two previous days this week.

Court Tries Two Drivers

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court has found Claude Seymour Boyer of Ridgeley guilty of one driving charge but he was acquitted on two other charges heard on criminal appeals.

Boyer was found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol but not guilty of reckless driving. A motion from his attorney to discuss a third charge of failure to stop after striking an unattended vehicle was granted by the court.

Before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, Boyer had received a $100 fine and six months in the Maryland House of Correction on the drunk driving charge, a $25 fine for reckless driving and a 30-day jail sentence for defaulting on a $100 fine on the failure to stop charge.

Another driver, Robert Lewis Wallizer of Flintstone, was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $50, the same penalty imposed last October by Magistrate Dick.

A charge against William E. Dorsey Sr., 111 Henry Street, of contributing to the delinquency of his minor daughter was dismissed by the state. He had been sentenced last October to one year in the Maryland House of Correction aftr a Juvenile Court hearing, and had appealed.

Textile Workers Election Ends

The last of the ballots in the annual election of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, were cast late last night as the three-day voting came to an end.

Six candidates for president of Local 1874 have helped stimulate interest in the election where some 2,500 persons were eligible to vote. The presidential nominees were William J. Atkinson, Glenn Campbell, Melvin Harris, the incumbent; James Stewart, Earl L. Snyder and John G. Thomas.

County Board Invited To Firemen's Banquet

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has received an invitation to attend the 37th annual banquet and dance of the Barton Hose Company No. 1 on Friday, February 24.

J. Hubert Radcliffe, principal of Oldtown High School, sent the commissioners a letter of thanks for the copy of the Code of Public Local Laws of Allegany County which has been added to the school's library.

Holly Van Ormer, a ninth grader at Fort Hill High school, wrote the commissioners thanking them for information obtained from them January 17 when she and other members of her class visited the Court House to see the commissioners in action. Other members who attended that session were Claudine Orndorff, Garry Thompson, Robert King and Mike Holshey. Their teacher is James E. Higgins Jr.

Retirement Of Federal Judge Approved By Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower today approved the retirement of Judge Armistead M. Dobie from the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The retirement of Dobie is effective Feb. 1. Dobie, of Charlottesville, Va., has served 16 years on the federal bench that hears appeals from Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Dobie actually is going into what the White House called "qualified" retirement, which means he will be on call for bench service if the need arises.

County Gets $19,483 In Md. Liquor Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Checks totaling $650,885 went out today to 22 Maryland counties and Baltimore City, their quarterly share of the State tax on distilled spirits.

Garrett County, where sale of distilled spirts are not licensed, does not share in the distribution.

The tax is based on the number of gallons delivered to retailers. Subdivisions share at the rate of 50 cents a gallon.

Including today's checks, more than $1,099,715 has been distributed since the start of the fiscal year July 1.

State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported quarterly shares of the counties included:

Williams Files For Senate

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—George Washington Williams, a Baltimore attorney who has said he will campaign for continued racial segregation and states' rights, filed today for Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Williams, a former federal judge in the Virgin Islands and former member of the Baltimore Park Board, was the fourth candidate to enter the race for nomination in the May 7 primary. He mailed his $270 filing fee to the secretary of state.

Other Democrats formally declared for the seat now held by Republican John Marshall Butler include George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor; Kenneth Lee, Baltimore attorney; and Andrew J. Easter, Baltimore and Washington draftsman.

Butler has announced he will seek re-election but has not yet filed for the nomination. Republicans formally entered against him to date are D. John Markey of Frederick, who lost a close primary race to Butler in 1950, and Henry J. Laque, a Linthicum junkyard operator.

Non-Mormons are not permitted to enter the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Ut.

Pays Bills to Give Folks a "Fresh Start"

JAMES ADAMS

Wondering how to pay those after-Holiday bills or cut high monthly payments?

This local business man has the answer. As manager of the local Aetna Finance office, he helps hundreds of people consolidate their debts with less to pay each month.

Bills amounting to as much as $1,500 can be paid off. The Aetna company also offers cash loans from $50 to $1,500 for expenses or other needs.

All local and nearby residents are invited. Phone or see Aetna Finance Co., 48 N. Centre St. Dial PA 4-5800.

(Loans over $300 to $1,500 made under Md. Industrial Finance Act).

Senator See Will Attend Meeting

State Senator Charles M. See will be in Washington today, attending a meeting of the Legislative Committee of the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Early this year, he was named a member of the committee of the organization which works in the interest of the blind in the United States and Canada.

Slated at the meeting is a discussion on legislation for the blind now pending in Congress.

Asks Jury Trial

Robert Lapp, 204 Greene Street, was given a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and was charged with violation of parole. He asked for a jury trial and was lodged in Allegany County jail in default of $500 bond. On December 12, Lapp was given a suspended sentence of two years in the Maryland House of Correction as a habitual drunkard, and was paroled for two years.

Williams Files For Senate

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—George Washington Williams, a Baltimore attorney who has said he will campaign for continued racial segregation and states' rights, filed today for Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Williams, a former federal judge in the Virgin Islands and former member of the Baltimore Park Board, was the fourth candidate to enter the race for nomination in the May 7 primary. He mailed his $270 filing fee to the secretary of state.

Other Democrats formally declared for the seat now held by Republican John Marshall Butler include George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County contractor; Kenneth Lee, Baltimore attorney; and Andrew J. Easter, Baltimore and Washington draftsman.

Butler has announced he will seek re-election but has not yet filed for the nomination. Republicans formally entered against him to date are D. John Markey of Frederick, who lost a close primary race to Butler in 1950, and Henry J. Laque, a Linthicum junkyard operator.

Senator See Will Attend Meeting

State Senator Charles M. See will be in Washington today, attending a meeting of the Legislative Committee of the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Early this year, he was named a member of the committee of the organization which works in the interest of the blind in the United States and Canada.

Slated at the meeting is a discussion on legislation for the blind now pending in Congress.

Asks Jury Trial

Robert Lapp, 204 Greene Street, was given a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and was charged with violation of parole. He asked for a jury trial and was lodged in Allegany County jail in default of $500 bond. On December 12, Lapp was given a suspended sentence of two years in the Maryland House of Correction as a habitual drunkard, and was paroled for two years.

Russia Turns West For Penetration

Soviet Russia's offer of technical assistance to the Latin American nations may be a case for the reassertion of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States. In that doctrine of nearly a century and a half ago this young nation warned predatory Old World powers to keep out of the New World.

The doctrine was essentially against a penetration by force of arms, peaceful immigration being encouraged at that time.

Russian penetration is far more subtle and difficult to deal with. It is difficult to send gunboats against allegedly peaceful trade. Yet if the Reds supply technicians and others for the supposed purpose of helping Latin Americans improve their economies, everybody knows the ultimate purpose is subversion to the point where the Latin nations will become satellites of Russia and enemies of the United States.

Then the New World would be back where it started — a group of Old World colonies to be exploited.

Recently, Senator J. Allen Frear of Delaware blocked the appointment of a Soviet diplomat to a key job in the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, which has a bearing on this situation. Anatoli Y. Melnikov, first secretary of the Soviet's U. N. delegation, had been put in charge of the UNICEF's important Latin American section. Senator Frear objected to an appointment which put the Russians in a position to use the children's fund for propaganda purposes and Melnikov was shifted to a less sensitive post.

Moscow is embarking on the same campaign of economic penetration in this hemisphere that it already has launched in India and the Middle East, and Melnikov's appointment would have fitted neatly into this plan.

The Russians want to tempt the United States to open its economic aid purse still wider in the hope of a fiscal crash that would make unhappy Americans subject to Red propaganda, too.

The Reds haven't all of this aid they talk about to give, being poor themselves, but the offer of it may have a troublesome impact on discontented peoples. It may pose for America a greater Monroe Doctrine challenge than Britain, France and Spain formerly provided.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Decisions Are Difficult

As I lie here, looking at a beige ceiling, asking myself questions which only I can answer, I can well understand why Ike Eisenhower could not tell the anxious Republicans whether he would be their candidate. Cardiacs are curious people. They have had a bump not only to their heart but to their ego. In the bookkeeping of life, each cardiac knows that he might have been counted out. No one can explain to him why his case is moderate or mild and not severe.

So he lies immobilized, taken from all his importance and greatness. These heart doctors are pretty tough; they do not bargain because bad judgment means death. Rest, sedation, no telephones, no visitors; in some cases, they do not even permit newspapers or the radio.

So one thinks, and curiously most of his thinking is about himself. The cardiac, particularly a coronary, comes out of this devotion to himself a pretty chastened man. The items stack up on both sides of the ledger. It is easy to tell a huge audience what a great man you are, but what can you say to yourself, when you are all alone, and the doctor has just told you that the scar can be widened by a physical or emotional upset. Who is greater, the patient or the hypodermic needle?

The Republicans would like Ike to run because they believe that he can lead them to another victory. But his problem is that six-week period of immobilization in Denver when every day, for hours he lay on a bed, with only a nurse in the room, with his wife a limited visitor and instructed to say nothing to move him emotionally. As his intellect broke through the sedation, he was like every other coronary — the question that was never answered was, how much damage has the attack done? It was not answered to his satisfaction, even if the doctors smiled when they said whatever it was they said. The patient always feels that the doctor cannot possibly know, that he is hoping for the best.

Ike Eisenhower would undoubtedly like to please the Republicans, particularly the businessmen, who have done so much for him. He would like to run again and then he could leave administration to Sherman Adams and philosophy to his brother, Milton. After all, a general is accustomed to passing orders down the line. But this illness makes everything very tough because moral problems are generated by it. No man comes close to death without being charred by it. Things that seemed cute and smart do not look so good. The word, duty, takes on a meaning and you have to answer, duty to whom? To God? To country? To family? To self? To a group of scheming politicians who apportion whatever spoils arise from a situation? Duty to whom?

It is very upsetting to get this kind of sickness. A broken leg can be mended; but here it is to be or not to be and it might have been written not to be. It is an illness which must give even the churl a sense of history, if nothing else, his own history. Certainly Ike got more out of his American life than his parents could have bargained for; I certainly did. So the ledger is not balanced; there are obligations to pay off, profound obligations.

Does one pay off such debts by winning an election for a political party? Maybe yes! I do not lie here in judgment of any man; I have enough difficulty squaring my own accounts. Still I ask: would it be a repayment of Ike Eisenhower's great debt to America to win the 1956 election for the Republican party even if he knows in his heart that he cannot carry the enormous load of the presidency? I cannot answer that question. Only he can.

But what the politicians had better know is that he will not answer it on the basis of cardiograms, or sedimentation records, or blood counts, or what this or that doctor says to him. It is too late for such things to matter.

He will answer it on the basis of one who was very close to death and who feels that his duty involves a risk of another bump, the next one a fatal bump, perhaps. He will answer after he has come altogether at peace with himself and does not fear the consequences of his decision.

Guess He Didn't Hear You

Inconsistency Of U. N. Censure Policy Criticized

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Why does the United Nations jump all over a little country like Israel and refrain from condemning the big fellows — Red China and Soviet Russia?

This is likely to be the most penetrating question that the principal governments of the world will have to answer if the United Nations is not to impair its effectiveness as a mediator in the days to come.

Israel probably suffered extreme provocations which led to the border raids for which a vote of censure now has been recorded by the United Nations. But there are numerous instances of even more flagrant sins by the Red Chinese in Korea. Here there is a solemn agreement to which the United Nations itself is a party. It specifies exactly what can and cannot be done under the terms of the armistice signed at Panmunjom. Yet American military men report that the Red Chinese have built up air fields and brought jet planes to North Korea in disregard of the prohibitions in the armistice agreement.

U.N. Frustrated

The United Nations, which has membership on a supervisory commission in Korea and is supposed to see that the armistice terms are honored, finds itself frustrated again and again as the commission isn't even allowed freedom to inspect in North Korea. Not a word of censure, however, comes from the United Nations itself on these points the U.N. evidently feels courageous enough to pick on a struggling nation like Israel, which is surrounded on all sides by hostile neighbors, but loses courage when it comes to condemning the Red Chinese government.

Conspicuous Transgressions

The Soviet Union, moreover, enthusiastically joins in the voting to censure Israel, but the United Nations chooses to forget that the Moscow government confessed early in 1953 at a General Assembly meeting that it had been supplying arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese and North Korean armies. No cognizance was taken of this disgraceful action by a member of the U. N., the charter of which pledges all members to give faithful adherence to the resolutions of the organization. The U. N. in 1950 formally called on all members to refrain from supplying arms to the forces opposing the U. N. soldiers in Korea.

These transgressions by Soviet Russia and Red China are conspicuous on the records of the last few years. Notwithstanding this, there has recently been a surprising amount of talk in and around the U. N. headquarters in New York about voting Red China into the Security Council.

Maybe the government of Israel will begin to think it should have taken a sympathetic position toward Soviet Russia and played ball with the Communists instead of with the West. It might have averted a resolution of condemnation. For Soviet Russia sees to it that nobody on her side in the cold war gets spanked by the U. N. or anybody else. Unlike Egypt, the government of Israel has not hesitated to show itself on the side of the West and seeks only the opportunity to develop its resources and build a strong government able to protect itself against Communist machinations in the Middle East which are aimed at building up the Arab states at the expense of Israel. Actually, the Communists have no fondness for any of the Middle East Countries—either the Arab or non-Arab states—but see an excellent opportunity to fish in troubled waters.

Discouraging To Israel

The latest news—that Marshal Tito is cooperating with Egypt in letting arms and ammunition pass from Czechoslovakia through Yugoslavian ports to Egypt—is a manifestation of the way the Moscow government is making headway against the West. Did the U. N. resolution encourage this? The rebuke administered by the U. N. to Israel will not of itself bring a climate of peace. If the U. N. had withheld its resolution of censure and used the opportunity to advance its peacemaking efforts, more might have been accomplished. As it is, the impression will be fostered in the Middle East that the entire world as reflected in the United Nations vote, is against little Israel. It is bound to be discouraging to the people of Israel.

If a commission had been appointed to make a report placing the blame on those responsible for the border raids, this would have been sufficient. At Geneva today there's a conference wherein the Red Chinese are trying to blackmail the United States and the U. N., too. This, for some strange reason, doesn't become the subject of any censure resolutions in the U. N. It's a strange inconsistency.

Ike Wrote Personal Note To McKay About Sale Of Rogue River Forest

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona took the floor of the Senate last week to rake me over the coals for revealing Secretary of the Interior McKay's sale of part of the Rouge River National Forest for only $5 an acre. Senator Goldwater didn't seem to want the facts about this amazing sale disclosed. He also began pulling backstage wires to block further funds for investigating Secretary McKay's Interior Department.

While some of the facts first appeared in this column September 29, 1954, I have now found that I omitted—or rather failed to discover—one interesting part of the story.

I have always wondered why Secretary McKay was in such a hurry to sell this valuable piece of Douglas fir worth over $200,000 for only about $2,270, on the flimsy excuse that it was needed for gold mining. Other secretaries of the interior had refused to sell. The Forest Service of Secretary Benson also was opposed. Yet Doug McKay and his staff almost jumped through loops to slice up this beautiful piece of timberland.

They seemed so anxious that his solicitor general, Clarence Davis, actually released his 17-page report releasing the timberland one day after a new assay report had been made and without waiting for the assay report to reach Washington. Davis even telephoned Oregon to see what the assay report on the ore was going to be. He didn't wait for the report to be mailed in. he was so anxious to get rid of the timberland which other secretaries of the interior had refused to part with.

McKay, though nicknamed "Generous Doug," is not usually quite that generous. In this case, however, he had an interesting little note direct from the President.

Buried in the Senate Interior Committee files is an interesting letter, which was picked up when the Senate subpoenaed the records of Secretary McKay.

It's a letter from a friend of President Eisenhower's addressed to him, asking that the Al Serena section of the Rouge River National Forest be released to the McDonald family.

Across the letter in his own handwriting President Eisenhower had scribbled "Dear Doug." Then followed a personal request from Ike to Doug to see what he could do about granting the Rouge River request.

The Gas Lobby

It's extremely difficult to track down just how a big lobby seeking to influence Congress spends its money. However, here are a few clues as to how the natural gas lobby is spending its $1,500,000 kitty.

About $100,000 was spent trying to oppose and dissuade the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, which is vigorously battling the Fulbright-Harris Natural Gas Bill.

The Independent Natural Gas Association has officially spent $46,000 to influence Congress, according to its latest lobbying report; also the General Gas Committee, $75,000; the Committee for Pipelines, $89,000, and the American Petroleum Institute, $73,000.

In addition, a large and undetermined amount has been spent on stirring up artificial grass-roots sentiment. Most of the genuine grass-roots sentiment comes from housewives and is vigorously opposed to any change in the present government right to regulate gas prices.

But some artificial sentiment is being stirred up, and here is an illustration of how the lobby operates.

Out in San Bernardino, Calif., a representative of Shell Oil approached Mrs. O. E. Smelser, a prominent civic leader, and explained that a committee was being formed in different communities for civic work. These committees were to wage an educational campaign to inform the public against the regulation of natural gas.

Mrs. Smelser is a lady who does not believe in setting up committees to increase the price of gas to her fellow housewives. She refused to cooperate. But others have.

Poll Of Senators

Meanwhile, the Houston Post, which minutely followed the Senate natural gas debate, has conducted a poll showing that quite a few senators usually turning up on the side of consumers this time are turning up with the gas lobby.

The Houston Post lists Senator Cotton of New Hampshire, whose constituents have everything to gain from cheap gas, as lining up for the bill; also Senators Butler of Maryland, Young of North Carolina, Kuchel of California, Frear of Delaware, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Mundt of South Dakota, and Stennis of Mississippi. All these states are predominantly gas-consuming, not gas-producing.

The Houston Post also listed Mansfield and Murray of Montana as leaning toward the natural gas bill; though not yet definitely decided, together with Bender of Ohio, Ervin of North Carolina, Mrs. Smith of Maine, Aiken and Flanders of Vermont, and Watkins of Utah. These undecided senators also represent states whose housewives are gas consumers.

It's fairly easy to understand why some of these senators are lining up with the natural gas lobby.

GOP Senator Butler of Maryland, for instance, represents a state through which more pipelines pass per square mile than any other in the Union. Its citizens are almost wholly dependent on natural gas, and such cities as Baltimore will suffer if the bill passes and the price of gas is hiked. That was why Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore came to Washington to testify vigorously against the bill.

However, it happens that when Butler was up for election he received a $5,000 contribution from Jack Porter, the big Houston gas-oil man who was Eisenhower's chief leader in Texas. Butler also received $10,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Clint Murchison. Murchison is one of the biggest oil-gas men in Texas.

In view of these contributions, you can understand why Butler is listed as ready to vote with the gas lobby and against the consumers of Maryland. Furthermore, he comes up for election this year and will need more campaign funds.

Tomorrow this column will diagnose how certain senators have been manipulated into voting against the interests of their own constituents.

Ike Holds Aloof

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The publicly missing piece in the Republican puzzle is very simple, decidedly curious and quite important enough to make the whole design look rather different.

In brief, all the busy political activity on the President's behalf is now being carried on without a shadow of positive authority from Dwight D. Eisenhower himself.

State delegations to the Republican convention are being briskly organized in the Eisenhower name. The Citizens for Eisenhower are being called to the colors again. With slight changes in make-up the old "Commodore Group," the same body of men who directed the Eisenhower strategy in 1952, is now working hard to prepare for a second Eisenhower term.

No Moral Commitment

But the President himself, meanwhile, is still holding perfectly aloof. He has not intervened to halt any of this activity, as he could of course very easily do. But he has never approved any of it, either. Therefore he is still free of any shred of moral commitment to the friends and supporter who are working so hard for him.

In trying to interpret the future, then, two big questions are dominant. Should one place more weight on the President's passive acceptance of such accomplished facts as the revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower? Or should one instead read the most meaning into the President's carefully non-committal aloofness? Two incidents which show how the system actually works to help make these questions more concrete.

The first incident concerns the New Hampshire primary. There was broad agreement among the leaders of the Commodore group—former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey; Attorney General Herbert Brownell; the old time Dewey man and former member of the White House staff, Thomas E. Stephens; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.; Gen. Lucius D. Clay; the Missouri leader, Barak T. Mattingly; Republican National Chairman Len Hall and Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

All these men agreed that it was essential to start the drama of the state primaries by organizing a strong pro-Eisenhower delegation in New Hampshire. Under the peculiar rules which govern the Commodore group's relation with the White House, the President's chief of staff, Sherman Adams, is informed of what is planned, but he is not consulted about it. The reason is that a request for the formal assent of the President's chief of staff would be too close to a request for the President's assent.

In the case of the New Hampshire primary, therefore, Adams was duly informed of the Commodore group's plans about the delegation. Thereupon informal warnings began to fly from the White House to the Commodore group. Influential members of the White House staff argued that if the President's name were actually entered in the primary, the effect might be to force Eisenhower's hand. It was feared that if his hand was forced, the President would issue a statement taking himself out of the race for good and all.

Clay Takes Initiative

The same pattern appears again in the incident of the revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower. Some weeks ago, former leaders of the Citizens for Eisenhower went to the President. They wanted to circulate a letter callin, the 1952 citizens into action again; and they wanted the President to approve it. He replied that he could only approve the letter if the avowed object was to organize support for his policies and program; he would not approve a letter specifically seeking to organize support for his candidacy.

With this presidentially imposed restriction, the letter would have had no point. Hence the project was dropped by its first originators. Yet revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower was still judged to be necessary by the Commodore group. Therefore Gen. Clay took the initiative on his own responsibility, asking former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby and the New York banker, Sidney J. Weinberg, to join with him.

Baby's Regurgitation May Or May Not Be Serious

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Roger was the apple of his father's eye. He was a happy, robust, four-month-old tyke who ate and slept well and did everything he was supposed to do at that age. "He had been an ideal baby," his mother said, "except that he spits up small amounts of his feeding throughout the day."

Mother was perturbed about the spots on the rugs and furniture and she spent many hours washing baby's clothing and the linens to eliminate the unpleasant odor that permeated them. But Roger went on cooing, giggling, and erupting.

There are several reasons why babies regurgitate. Some are serious and require thorough study for diagnosis and correction. Roger was an example of "spitting up" in a well infant. The stomach is a flexible sac that looks like an oversized pear with an opening at both ends. Food is churned in the stomach two to four hours before it enters the small intestine.

Infants usually have the same digestive ability as adults do. A few digest fats with difficulty even though they have little or no trouble with carbohydrates and proteins. This means that some food lags behind and the emptying time is delayed.

Rogers proved to be one of these youngsters. Whenever he became active and more exurberant than usual, a small amount was regurgitated periodically. The situation is controled easily by removing much of the fat from the formula.

A few infants continue the practice even though the diet is watched carefully.

The manifestation often disappears spontaneously when the youngster is held erect, as the force of gravity corrects the situation. This is one reason why an Indian mother carries her papoose on her back. This is mentioned only as a suggestion. I doubt if many mothers will take it seriously

The situation is different when vomiting occurs in a baby who is not progressing normally. If allergy is suspected, a change in formula is helpful; tots who are sensitive to cow's milk, for example, improve quickly when given soybean milk.

On the other hand, X-ray may be needed to track down the cause as infants are not immune to gastrointestinal diseases, including pepic ulcer.

Tomorrow: More on arteriosclerosis.

VARICOSE VEINS

Mrs. W. writes: Will wearing an elastic stocking help a woman with varicose veins?

REPLY

Yes. Our leaflet on varicose veins describes different ways of treating this disorder. It may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

"HYPA," MEANING "LESS"

K. J. O. writes: Recently I was ill with what the doctor said was hypochromic anemia. I am taking liver and vitamin B12 and am supposed to see my doctor again soon but a friend has me worried. She says my diagnosis means a pretended illness. I can't afford treatment for nothing and would like you to tell me what is what.

REPLY

Your friend has stuck her neck out too far. Hypochromic anemia is a bona fide ailment, in which the iron content of the blood is less than it should be. Iron, not liver or vitamin B12 is the best treatment. Hypochromic anemia should not be confused with hypochondriasis, a functional emotional disorder.

INFECTION OR ALLERGY

P. R. writes: What are some of the causes for peeling between the toes?

REPLY

INFOLDED COLON

P. C. writes: What makes the small bowel fall into the large bowel?

REPLY

In intussusception, one part of the bowel becomes invaginated into the adjoining part. This causes obstruction and the infolded portion may become gangrenous unless immediate operation is performed. Among the causes of this condition are anatomic defects, tumor, divesticulum, or inflammation .

DAD'S PLANNING

M. W. writes: Does twinning skip a generation? My wife is a twin, and since we are expecting I would like to know whether to plan on baby shoes for one or two.

REPLY

Predictions along this line are unreliable but X-rays after the fourth month may prove worthwhile.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Here's a story that highlights the special quality that makes the English different from all other folks. An elderly lady was riding down to London in a first-class railway compartment when she suddenly confided to the young lady across the aisle, "I saw a splendid play the last time I visited London. Gielguld starred. He was superb. The direction and lighting also were perfect. Only fault with the play was the girl in the leading role. Marguerite Chapman I believe her name was. Shocking performance. I wonder how she got on to acting for a living in the first place."

The young lady's eyes flashed. "It may interest you to learn," she snapped, "that I happen to be Marguerite Chapman!"

The elderly lady nodded. "Yes," she said softly, "I know."

Russian penetration is far more subtle and difficult to deal with. It is difficult to send gunboats against allegedly peaceful trade. Yet if the Reds supply technicians and others for the supposed purpose of helping Latin Americans improve their economies, everybody knows the ultimate purpose is subversion to the point where the Latin nations will become satellites of Russia and enemies of the United States.

Then the New World would be back where it started — a group of Old World colonies to be exploited.

Recently, Senator J. Allen Frear of Delaware blocked the appointment of a Soviet diplomat to a key job in the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, which has a bearing on this situation. Anatoli Y. Melnikov, first secretary of the Soviet's U. N. delegation, had been put in charge of the UNICEF's important Latin American section. Senator Frear objected to an appointment which put the Russians in a position to use the children's fund for propaganda purposes and Melnikov was shifted to a less sensitive post.

Moscow is embarking on the same campaign of economic penetration in this hemisphere that it already has launched in India and the Middle East, and Melnikov's appointment would have fitted neatly into this plan.

The Russians want to tempt the United States to open its economic aid purse still wider in the hope of a fiscal crash that would make unhappy Americans subject to Red propaganda, too.

The Reds haven't all of this aid they talk about to give, being poor themselves, but the offer of it may have a troublesome impact on discontented peoples. It may pose for America a greater Monroe Doctrine challenge than Britain, France and Spain formerly provided.

Ike Wrote Personal Note To McKay About Sale Of Rogue River Forest

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona took the floor of the Senate last week to rake me over the coals for revealing Secretary of the Interior McKay's sale of part of the Rouge River National Forest for only $5 an acre. Senator Goldwater didn't seem to want the facts about this amazing sale disclosed. He also began pulling backstage wires to block further funds for investigating Secretary McKay's Interior Department.

While some of the facts first appeared in this column September 29, 1954, I have now found that I omitted—or rather failed to discover—one interesting part of the story.

I have always wondered why Secretary McKay was in such a hurry to sell this valuable piece of Douglas fir worth over $200,000 for only about $2,270, on the flimsy excuse that it was needed for gold mining. Other secretaries of the interior had refused to sell. The Forest Service of Secretary Benson also was opposed. Yet Doug McKay and his staff almost jumped through loops to slice up this beautiful piece of timberland.

They seemed so anxious that his solicitor general, Clarence Davis, actually released his 17-page report releasing the timberland one day after a new assay report had been made and without waiting for the assay report to reach Washington. Davis even telephoned Oregon to see what the assay report on the ore was going to be. He didn't wait for the report to be mailed in. he was so anxious to get rid of the timberland which other secretaries of the interior had refused to part with.

McKay, though nicknamed "Generous Doug," is not usually quite that generous. In this case, however, he had an interesting little note direct from the President.

Buried in the Senate Interior Committee files is an interesting letter, which was picked up when the Senate subpoenaed the records of Secretary McKay.

It's a letter from a friend of President Eisenhower's addressed to him, asking that the Al Serena section of the Rouge River National Forest be released to the McDonald family.

Across the letter in his own handwriting President Eisenhower had scribbled "Dear Doug." Then followed a personal request from Ike to Doug to see what he could do about granting the Rouge River request.

The Gas Lobby

It's extremely difficult to track down just how a big lobby seeking to influence Congress spends its money. However, here are a few clues as to how the natural gas lobby is spending its $1,500,000 kitty.

About $100,000 was spent trying to oppose and dissuade the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, which is vigorously battling the Fulbright-Harris Natural Gas Bill.

The Independent Natural Gas Association has officially spent $46,000 to influence Congress, according to its latest lobbying report; also the General Gas Committee, $75,000; the Committee for Pipelines, $89,000, and the American Petroleum Institute, $73,000.

In addition, a large and undetermined amount has been spent on stirring up artificial grass-roots sentiment. Most of the genuine grass-roots sentiment comes from housewives and is vigorously opposed to any change in the present government right to regulate gas prices.

But some artificial sentiment is being stirred up, and here is an illustration of how the lobby operates.

Out in San Bernardino, Calif., a representative of Shell Oil approached Mrs. O. E. Smelser, a prominent civic leader, and explained that a committee was being formed in different communities for civic work. These committees were to wage an educational campaign to inform the public against the regulation of natural gas.

Mrs. Smelser is a lady who does not believe in setting up committees to increase the price of gas to her fellow housewives. She refused to cooperate. But others have.

Poll Of Senators

Meanwhile, the Houston Post, which minutely followed the Senate natural gas debate, has conducted a poll showing that quite a few senators usually turning up on the side of consumers this time are turning up with the gas lobby.

The Houston Post lists Senator Cotton of New Hampshire, whose constituents have everything to gain from cheap gas, as lining up for the bill; also Senators Butler of Maryland, Young of North Carolina, Kuchel of California, Frear of Delaware, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Mundt of South Dakota, and Stennis of Mississippi. All these states are predominantly gas-consuming, not gas-producing.

The Houston Post also listed Mansfield and Murray of Montana as leaning toward the natural gas bill; though not yet definitely decided, together with Bender of Ohio, Ervin of North Carolina, Mrs. Smith of Maine, Aiken and Flanders of Vermont, and Watkins of Utah. These undecided senators also represent states whose housewives are gas consumers.

It's fairly easy to understand why some of these senators are lining up with the natural gas lobby.

GOP Senator Butler of Maryland, for instance, represents a state through which more pipelines pass per square mile than any other in the Union. Its citizens are almost wholly dependent on natural gas, and such cities as Baltimore will suffer if the bill passes and the price of gas is hiked. That was why Mayor D'Alesandro of Baltimore came to Washington to testify vigorously against the bill.

However, it happens that when Butler was up for election he received a $5,000 contribution from Jack Porter, the big Houston gas-oil man who was Eisenhower's chief leader in Texas. Butler also received $10,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Clint Murchison. Murchison is one of the biggest oil-gas men in Texas.

In view of these contributions, you can understand why Butler is listed as ready to vote with the gas lobby and against the consumers of Maryland. Furthermore, he comes up for election this year and will need more campaign funds.

Tomorrow this column will diagnose how certain senators have been manipulated into voting against the interests of their own constituents.

Inconsistency Of U. N. Censure Policy Criticized

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Why does the United Nations jump all over a little country like Israel and refrain from condemning the big fellows — Red China and Soviet Russia?

This is likely to be the most penetrating question that the principal governments of the world will have to answer if the United Nations is not to impair its effectiveness as a mediator in the days to come.

Israel probably suffered extreme provocations which led to the border raids for which a vote of censure now has been recorded by the United Nations. But there are numerous instances of even more flagrant sins by the Red Chinese in Korea. Here there is a solemn agreement to which the United Nations itself is a party. It specifies exactly what can and cannot be done under the terms of the armistice signed at Panmunjom. Yet American military men report that the Red Chinese have built up air fields and brought jet planes to North Korea in disregard of the prohibitions in the armistice agreement.

U.N. Frustrated

The United Nations, which has membership on a supervisory commission in Korea and is supposed to see that the armistice terms are honored, finds itself frustrated again and again as the commission isn't even allowed freedom to inspect in North Korea. Not a word of censure, however, comes from the United Nations itself on these points the U.N. evidently feels courageous enough to pick on a struggling nation like Israel, which is surrounded on all sides by hostile neighbors, but loses courage when it comes to condemning the Red Chinese government.

Conspicuous Transgressions

The Soviet Union, moreover, enthusiastically joins in the voting to censure Israel, but the United Nations chooses to forget that the Moscow government confessed early in 1953 at a General Assembly meeting that it had been supplying arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese and North Korean armies. No cognizance was taken of this disgraceful action by a member of the U. N., the charter of which pledges all members to give faithful adherence to the resolutions of the organization. The U. N. in 1950 formally called on all members to refrain from supplying arms to the forces opposing the U. N. soldiers in Korea.

These transgressions by Soviet Russia and Red China are conspicuous on the records of the last few years. Notwithstanding this, there has recently been a surprising amount of talk in and around the U. N. headquarters in New York about voting Red China into the Security Council.

Maybe the government of Israel will begin to think it should have taken a sympathetic position toward Soviet Russia and played ball with the Communists instead of with the West. It might have averted a resolution of condemnation. For Soviet Russia sees to it that nobody on her side in the cold war gets spanked by the U. N. or anybody else. Unlike Egypt, the government of Israel has not hesitated to show itself on the side of the West and seeks only the opportunity to develop its resources and build a strong government able to protect itself against Communist machinations in the Middle East which are aimed at building up the Arab states at the expense of Israel. Actually, the Communists have no fondness for any of the Middle East Countries—either the Arab or non-Arab states—but see an excellent opportunity to fish in troubled waters.

Discouraging To Israel

The latest news—that Marshal Tito is cooperating with Egypt in letting arms and ammunition pass from Czechoslovakia through Yugoslavian ports to Egypt—is a manifestation of the way the Moscow government is making headway against the West. Did the U. N. resolution encourage this? The rebuke administered by the U. N. to Israel will not of itself bring a climate of peace. If the U. N. had withheld its resolution of censure and used the opportunity to advance its peacemaking efforts, more might have been accomplished. As it is, the impression will be fostered in the Middle East that the entire world as reflected in the United Nations vote, is against little Israel. It is bound to be discouraging to the people of Israel.

If a commission had been appointed to make a report placing the blame on those responsible for the border raids, this would have been sufficient. At Geneva today there's a conference wherein the Red Chinese are trying to blackmail the United States and the U. N., too. This, for some strange reason, doesn't become the subject of any censure resolutions in the U. N. It's a strange inconsistency.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Decisions Are Difficult

As I lie here, looking at a beige ceiling, asking myself questions which only I can answer, I can well understand why Ike Eisenhower could not tell the anxious Republicans whether he would be their candidate. Cardiacs are curious people. They have had a bump not only to their heart but to their ego. In the bookkeeping of life, each cardiac knows that he might have been counted out. No one can explain to him why his case is moderate or mild and not severe.

So he lies immobilized, taken from all his importance and greatness. These heart doctors are pretty tough; they do not bargain because bad judgment means death. Rest, sedation, no telephones, no visitors; in some cases, they do not even permit newspapers or the radio.

So one thinks, and curiously most of his thinking is about himself. The cardiac, particularly a coronary, comes out of this devotion to himself a pretty chastened man. The items stack up on both sides of the ledger. It is easy to tell a huge audience what a great man you are, but what can you say to yourself, when you are all alone, and the doctor has just told you that the scar can be widened by a physical or emotional upset. Who is greater, the patient or the hypodermic needle?

The Republicans would like Ike to run because they believe that he can lead them to another victory. But his problem is that six-week period of immobilization in Denver when every day, for hours he lay on a bed, with only a nurse in the room, with his wife a limited visitor and instructed to say nothing to move him emotionally. As his intellect broke through the sedation, he was like every other coronary — the question that was never answered was, how much damage has the attack done? It was not answered to his satisfaction, even if the doctors smiled when they said whatever it was they said. The patient always feels that the doctor cannot possibly know, that he is hoping for the best.

Ike Eisenhower would undoubtedly like to please the Republicans, particularly the businessmen, who have done so much for him. He would like to run again and then he could leave administration to Sherman Adams and philosophy to his brother, Milton. After all, a general is accustomed to passing orders down the line. But this illness makes everything very tough because moral problems are generated by it. No man comes close to death without being charred by it. Things that seemed cute and smart do not look so good. The word, duty, takes on a meaning and you have to answer, duty to whom? To God? To country? To family? To self? To a group of scheming politicians who apportion whatever spoils arise from a situation? Duty to whom?

It is very upsetting to get this kind of sickness. A broken leg can be mended; but here it is to be or not to be and it might have been written not to be. It is an illness which must give even the churl a sense of history, if nothing else, his own history. Certainly Ike got more out of his American life than his parents could have bargained for; I certainly did. So the ledger is not balanced; there are obligations to pay off, profound obligations.

Does one pay off such debts by winning an election for a political party? Maybe yes! I do not lie here in judgment of any man; I have enough difficulty squaring my own accounts. Still I ask: would it be a repayment of Ike Eisenhower's great debt to America to win the 1956 election for the Republican party even if he knows in his heart that he cannot carry the enormous load of the presidency? I cannot answer that question. Only he can.

But what the politicians had better know is that he will not answer it on the basis of cardiograms, or sedimentation records, or blood counts, or what this or that doctor says to him. It is too late for such things to matter.

He will answer it on the basis of one who was very close to death and who feels that his duty involves a risk of another bump, the next one a fatal bump, perhaps. He will answer after he has come altogether at peace with himself and does not fear the consequences of his decision.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Stassen and Nixon are after Stevenson for getting after Dulles' home-made brinks. All Adlai said was you shouldn't pick your teeth with your foot.

He sort of hinted Dulles was playing Russian roulette with a single-barreled scatter gun.

Now we know Dulles kept us out of war. Let's find out who's keeping us out of peace.

When they give us public a gander at inside diplomacy it's like putting a picture window in a sanitarium.

England didn't like that crack about taking a run-out powder in Indochina. The truth hurts especially when it's a couple of sizes too tight.

But we have always been taught diplomacy consisted of urbanity, a sound-proof echo chamber, perfect manners and a vacuum-packed homburg. No diplomat ever puts a wire-tap on his own diary.

Ike Holds Aloof

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The publicly missing piece in the Republican puzzle is very simple, decidedly curious and quite important enough to make the whole design look rather different.

In brief, all the busy political activity on the President's behalf is now being carried on without a shadow of positive authority from Dwight D. Eisenhower himself.

State delegations to the Republican convention are being briskly organized in the Eisenhower name. The Citizens for Eisenhower are being called to the colors again. With slight changes in make-up the old "Commodore Group," the same body of men who directed the Eisenhower strategy in 1952, is now working hard to prepare for a second Eisenhower term.

No Moral Commitment

But the President himself, meanwhile, is still holding perfectly aloof. He has not intervened to halt any of this activity, as he could of course very easily do. But he has never approved any of it, either. Therefore he is still free of any shred of moral commitment to the friends and supporter who are working so hard for him.

In trying to interpret the future, then, two big questions are dominant. Should one place more weight on the President's passive acceptance of such accomplished facts as the revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower? Or should one instead read the most meaning into the President's carefully non-committal aloofness? Two incidents which show how the system actually works to help make these questions more concrete.

The first incident concerns the New Hampshire primary. There was broad agreement among the leaders of the Commodore group—former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey; Attorney General Herbert Brownell; the old time Dewey man and former member of the White House staff, Thomas E. Stephens; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.; Gen. Lucius D. Clay; the Missouri leader, Barak T. Mattingly; Republican National Chairman Len Hall and Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

All these men agreed that it was essential to start the drama of the state primaries by organizing a strong pro-Eisenhower delegation in New Hampshire. Under the peculiar rules which govern the Commodore group's relation with the White House, the President's chief of staff, Sherman Adams, is informed of what is planned, but he is not consulted about it. The reason is that a request for the formal assent of the President's chief of staff would be too close to a request for the President's assent.

In the case of the New Hampshire primary, therefore, Adams was duly informed of the Commodore group's plans about the delegation. Thereupon informal warnings began to fly from the White House to the Commodore group. Influential members of the White House staff argued that if the President's name were actually entered in the primary, the effect might be to force Eisenhower's hand. It was feared that if his hand was forced, the President would issue a statement taking himself out of the race for good and all.

Clay Takes Initiative

The same pattern appears again in the incident of the revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower. Some weeks ago, former leaders of the Citizens for Eisenhower went to the President. They wanted to circulate a letter callin, the 1952 citizens into action again; and they wanted the President to approve it. He replied that he could only approve the letter if the avowed object was to organize support for his policies and program; he would not approve a letter specifically seeking to organize support for his candidacy.

With this presidentially imposed restriction, the letter would have had no point. Hence the project was dropped by its first originators. Yet revival of the Citizens for Eisenhower was still judged to be necessary by the Commodore group. Therefore Gen. Clay took the initiative on his own responsibility, asking former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby and the New York banker, Sidney J. Weinberg, to join with him.

Baby's Regurgitation May Or May Not Be Serious

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Roger was the apple of his father's eye. He was a happy, robust, four-month-old tyke who ate and slept well and did everything he was supposed to do at that age. "He had been an ideal baby," his mother said, "except that he spits up small amounts of his feeding throughout the day."

Mother was perturbed about the spots on the rugs and furniture and she spent many hours washing baby's clothing and the linens to eliminate the unpleasant odor that permeated them. But Roger went on cooing, giggling, and erupting.

There are several reasons why babies regurgitate. Some are serious and require thorough study for diagnosis and correction. Roger was an example of "spitting up" in a well infant. The stomach is a flexible sac that looks like an oversized pear with an opening at both ends. Food is churned in the stomach two to four hours before it enters the small intestine.

Infants usually have the same digestive ability as adults do. A few digest fats with difficulty even though they have little or no trouble with carbohydrates and proteins. This means that some food lags behind and the emptying time is delayed.

Rogers proved to be one of these youngsters. Whenever he became active and more exurberant than usual, a small amount was regurgitated periodically. The situation is controled easily by removing much of the fat from the formula.

A few infants continue the practice even though the diet is watched carefully.

The manifestation often disappears spontaneously when the youngster is held erect, as the force of gravity corrects the situation. This is one reason why an Indian mother carries her papoose on her back. This is mentioned only as a suggestion. I doubt if many mothers will take it seriously

The situation is different when vomiting occurs in a baby who is not progressing normally. If allergy is suspected, a change in formula is helpful; tots who are sensitive to cow's milk, for example, improve quickly when given soybean milk.

On the other hand, X-ray may be needed to track down the cause as infants are not immune to gastrointestinal diseases, including pepic ulcer.

VARICOSE VEINS

Mrs. W. writes: Will wearing an elastic stocking help a woman with varicose veins?

REPLY

Yes. Our leaflet on varicose veins describes different ways of treating this disorder. It may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

"HYPA," MEANING "LESS"

K. J. O. writes: Recently I was ill with what the doctor said was hypochromic anemia. I am taking liver and vitamin B12 and am supposed to see my doctor again soon but a friend has me worried. She says my diagnosis means a pretended illness. I can't afford treatment for nothing and would like you to tell me what is what.

REPLY

Your friend has stuck her neck out too far. Hypochromic anemia is a bona fide ailment, in which the iron content of the blood is less than it should be. Iron, not liver or vitamin B12 is the best treatment. Hypochromic anemia should not be confused with hypochondriasis, a functional emotional disorder.

INFECTION OR ALLERGY

P. R. writes: What are some of the causes for peeling between the toes?

REPLY

INFOLDED COLON

P. C. writes: What makes the small bowel fall into the large bowel?

REPLY

In intussusception, one part of the bowel becomes invaginated into the adjoining part. This causes obstruction and the infolded portion may become gangrenous unless immediate operation is performed. Among the causes of this condition are anatomic defects, tumor, divesticulum, or inflammation .

DAD'S PLANNING

M. W. writes: Does twinning skip a generation? My wife is a twin, and since we are expecting I would like to know whether to plan on baby shoes for one or two.

REPLY

Predictions along this line are unreliable but X-rays after the fourth month may prove worthwhile.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Here's a story that highlights the special quality that makes the English different from all other folks. An elderly lady was riding down to London in a first-class railway compartment when she suddenly confided to the young lady across the aisle, "I saw a splendid play the last time I visited London. Gielguld starred. He was superb. The direction and lighting also were perfect. Only fault with the play was the girl in the leading role. Marguerite Chapman I believe her name was. Shocking performance. I wonder how she got on to acting for a living in the first place."

The young lady's eyes flashed. "It may interest you to learn," she snapped, "that I happen to be Marguerite Chapman!"

The elderly lady nodded. "Yes," she said softly, "I know."

George S. Kaufman recently characterized a familiar stage personality as "the most painsgiving director in the New York theater."

Greenberg, Cronin Elected To Baseball's Hall Of Fame

Former AL Players Rated Top Sluggers

Hank Gets 164 Votes, Joe 152; Both Now General Managers

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin, two of the best righthanded hitters of the modern age, today were elected to baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., by the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn.

Greenberg is general manager of the Cleveland Indians and Cronin is general manager of the Boston Red Sox, both in the American League where they spent most of their brilliant major league careers.

Hank Greenberg Joe Cronin

A total of 193 ballots were received from the eligible writers, with Greenberg earning 164 votes and Cronin 152. A total of 145, three-fourths of those cast, was necessary for election. Only players active in the 1930-50 period were eligible for recognition and they could not be active as a coach or manager within the last five years.

Only Players Close

The two new members were the only players close to election. Red Ruffing, a key pitcher on many New York Yankee pennant winners, was third with 97 votes. Then came Ed Roush, former Cincinnati outfielder with 91.

Others among the first 10 in vote getters were: Lefty Gomez 89, Hack Wilson 74, Tony Lazzeri 64, Kiki Cuyler 55, Hank Gowdy 49 and Sam Rice 45.

"In all my years of being on the playing field I never dreamed that this would be the final result," Greenberg said. "I can't possibly express how I feel. It's just too wonderful for words. I'm deeply grateful and humble for this great honor the writers saw fit to bestow upon me. . . "

"I'm also gald that Joe Cronin was named, too. He was one of the greatest ball players and toughest competitors I ever saw."

Reached at Newton, Mass., Cronin called his election the "greatest thrill of my career."

"I'm just as happy as a person can be," Cronin said when he learned the news.

"Just knowing I was being considered (for the Hall of Fame) was a great honor," he said. "It's even greater to be in there with such fellows as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Mickey Cochrane, Gabby Hartnett and all the others. It's also a great honor to go in with another great ballplayer—Hank Greenberg.

Played With Tigers

Greenberg, now 45, had a lifetime batting average of .313 for 1,394 big league games, most of them with the Detroit Tigers. The 6-3 first baseman-outfielder hit 58 homers for the Tigers in 1938 and is ninth on the list of all-time home run hitters with 331.

He was sold to Pittsburgh, Jan. 18, 1947, and finished his playing career with the Pirates.

Cronin, a shortstop in his playing days, broke into the majors at Pittsburgh in 1926-27 but came into his own in the American League at Washington from 1928 through 1934. He played at Boston from 1935 through 1945, when he retired after breaking his right ankle in an early season game at Yankee Stadium. He became general manager at Boston in 1948.

The San Francisco-born Irishman, now 49, is a member of the exclusive 2,000-hit club with a total of 2,285 hits in 2,124 big league games over a 20-year span. His lifetime average was .302 and he hit 171 homers.

DAPPER DAN GUEST—Johnny Michelosen, University of Pittsburgh football coach, has been invited to attend the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club dinner at the Knights of Columbus home, Sunday, February 5, at 6 p.m. Pitt wound up the regular season with a 7-3 record, beating California, Syracuse, Nebraska, Duke, Virginia, West Virginia and Penn State while bowing to Oklahoma, Navy and Miami, Fla. In the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's Day, Pitt lost to Georgia Tech, 7-0. He played at Pitt and was assistant there to Coach Jock Sutherland before coaching the Steelers in the National Football League. The announcement that Michelosen would be here was made by Reatus L. Spiker, member of the arrangements committee.

Fisher & Robinette Faces Purple Heart In Battle For Lead

A battle for first place in the National Division of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League is on tap for tonight when Fisher and Robinette visits the Purple Heart Club.

Purple Heart is setting the pace with a 40-14 record but Fisher & Robinette's team trails by only one game with a 39-15 mark. A 2-1 victory for the F. & R. shufflers would put them on top.

Green's Chevrolet is also in the thick of the fight and trail the current leaders by only two games with a 38-16 record. The Chevvies host the Hi Dee Club tonight.

Frostburg American Legion, running six games ahead in the American Division, plays at Clingerman's tonight.

AMERICAN — Southern Bar at Stadium Inn, Cas Taylor's at Frostburg Eagles, Goodfellowship Club at Fort Ashby V.F.W., Cumberland K. of C. at Redmen.

NATIONAL — Golden Nugget at Hann's Tavern and Frostburg K. of C. at Cumberland Moose. The Mt. Savage V.F.W. at Woodmen of the World match is set for Friday night.

Fort Ashby Hosts Capon High Quint

Paw Paw High's Pirates are scheduled to play Coach Jerry Calhoun's Indians at Berkeley Springs High School.

Higgins Given New 3-Year Pact As Bosox Pilot

"Manager Of Year" To Receive $45,000

BOSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mike Higgins, an affable Texan who won 1955 "manager of the year" honors in his freshman season as a major league pilot, today was rewarded with a new three-year contract by the Boston Red Sox.

Terms of the new pact were not announced, but General Manager Joe Cronin indicated that Higgins received a sizeable salary increase. Best guesses were that the Red Sox manager will receive $35,000 to $45,000 a year.

"Mike did a great job with the club last year and was most deserving of a new contract," Cronin said. "He's been with us a long time and we want him to stay with us."

Higgins, who ended a fine playing career with the pennant-winning Red Sox in 1946, began his managerial career with the Boston farm club at Roanoke in the Class B Piedmont League the following year.

He worked his way up through the Red Sox system and last year was summoned by Cronin to replace Lou Boudreau as the Boston field manager. After a poor start during which Higgins refused to panic, the Red Sox bounced back and were in pennant contention until late in the season.

Higgins was given a two-year contract before the start of the 1955 season, but Cronin said that agreement was "torn up" and replaced by the new one which will run through 1958.

"We have great confidence in Mike," Cronin said. "He's done wonders with our young players and if anyone can lead our club to another pennant its Mike."

Higgins took over a Red Sox team which finished 42 games out of first place in 1954, and kept it in the 1955 pennant fight until the final month. The club wound up only 12 games off the top.

"We will do better than we did last year," Higgins promised Cronin in a long distance telephone call from his home in Dallas, Texas.

During his career, he compiled a lifetime batting average of .292 and was named to the American League All-Star team twice, in 1936 and 1944. He shares the major league record for the most consecutive hits—12—with Walt Dropo, now with the Chicago White Sox.

In his first year as a manager, he led Roanoke to first place and the Piedmont league playoff championship.

Giambra Gains Nod Over Andrews

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 25 (AP) — Slow-starting middleweight Joey Giambra, of Buffalo, N. Y., punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews of St. Paul, Minn., tonight in the Norfolk City Auditorium. Giambra weighed 158 pounds and Andrews 161¾.

Referee Elder Craft voted 97-88 for Giambra, Judge John Burton voted 96-94 and Judge Charles Ford 96-95.

St. Frances To Seek 8th Win; St. Mary's Tops Westernport

St. Frances of Keyser will be angling for its eighth consecutive win when it meets St. Peter's in a Catholic Youth Basketball League game tonight in Oakland.

St. Patrick's, battling to get back into the .500 class, will invade Westernport to play St. Peter's on the Bruce High School court. The "Fighting Irish" now own a 3-4 record.

Dick Blake's St. Mary's quint will be shooting for its third win of the week when it meets St. Michael's of Frostburg on St. Mary's court, Oldtown Road. The Gaels have won six and lost three.

All league games are set for 7:30 o'clock.

St. Mary's notched its sixth win Tuesday night, defeating St. Peter's, of Westernport, 65-20.

Meeting Called

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 25 (AP)—Commissioner Jim Weaver today called a special meeting of athletic directors of Atlantic Coast Conference schools here Feb. 2.

Joe Moss Named Assistant Football Coach At Maryland

Former Ridgeley Athlete, Peebles Join Mont's Staff

Joe Moss, 25-year-old native of West Virginia and former University of Maryland and Washington Redskin football player, yesterday was appointed an assistant grid coach at Maryland.

Head Coach Tommy Mont announced the appointment of Moss, third new assistant hired to the Terps' staff, to bring the coaching staff to five assistants, with one vacancy still to be filled.

Earlier yesterday, Jim Peebles of Columbia, Tenn., who also played formerly with the Redskins, was named an assistant.

Graduated From Ridgeley

Moss, who was born in Elkins, W. Va., was graduated from Ridgeley High School in 1948, after his family moved to the Mineral County community several years earlier.

The husky athlete was a star on the Ridgeley Blackhawks football and basketball teams during the late 40s, playing fullback for Coach Jesse Riggleman's Potomac Valley Conference grid champions in 1947.

He also was a member of Riggleman's Ridgeley PVC basketball champions of 1948 when they compiled a 10-0 loop mark and twice was nominated for the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship award in basketball for 1947 and 1948.

Moss was selected to the all-PVC football team in 1947 and the all-PVC basketball squad in 1948. He led the league in scoring during the 1947 football season.

The new coach, who adopted Ridgeley as his home town, was fullback on Maryland's freshman team in 1948 and was first string tackle on the varsity elevens of 1949, 1950 and 1951. He played with the Terps when they defeated Missouri, 20-7, in the Gator Bowl in 1950 and again when they upended Tennessee, 28-13, in the Sugar Bowl in 1952.

Played Professional Ball

He left school after the 1951 season and played the 1952 season with the Redskins, returning to Maryland in 1952 to receive his degree in business administration in February, 1953. He was drafted by the National Football League champion Los Angeles Rams in 1952, but was traded to the Skins.

Commissioned in the Air Force ROTC, Moss served two years on active duty and played tackle and coached the line for the Bolling Air Force Base team in the 1953-54 season.

Last season he went to Canada and played more professional ball with the Ottawa Roughriders.

Winter Olympics To Open Today

Light Snow Falls On Eve Of Games

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 25 (AP)—A light snow, the first in 15 days, fell on slopes of this Alpine village today but it was only a tease on the eve of the seventh winter Olympic games.

While officials and competitors watched hopefully, snow drifted down for about half an hour. Then it stopped before it could even begin to cover the bare courses.

So this giant international spectacle of snow and ice, an 8 million dollar undertaking harrassed by the snow drought and injuries, opens formally tomorrow with skiing conditions still hazardous. No more snow is in sight.

Still another headache appeared when ice hockey referees threatened to walkout unless they were given better living quarters and compensated for expenses.

Opening ceremonies will consist of the usual parade of athletes, flag raising and oath taking ritual and lighting of the Olympic flame. Two hockey matches—Italy vs. Austria and Canada vs. Germany —complete the first day's activities.

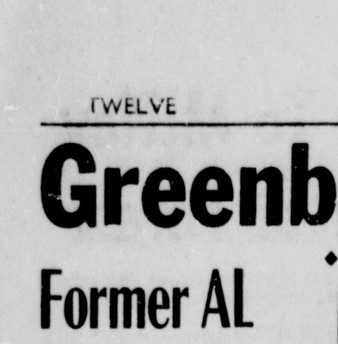
Greenberg, Cronin Elected To Baseball's Hall Of Fame

Former AL Players Rated Top Sluggers

Hank Gets 164 Votes, Joe 152; Both Now General Managers

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin, two of the best righthanded hitters of the modern age, today were elected to baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., by the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn.

Greenberg is general manager of the Cleveland Indians and Cronin is general manager of the Boston Red Sox, both in the American League where they spent most of their brilliant major league careers.



Hank Greenberg Joe Cronin

A total of 193 ballots were received from the eligible writers, with Greenberg earning 164 votes and Cronin 152. A total of 145, three-fourths of those cast, was necessary for election. Only players active in the 1930-50 period were eligible for recognition and they could not be active as a coach or manager within the last five years.

Only Players Close

The two new members were the only players close to election. Red Ruffing, a key pitcher on many New York Yankee pennant winners, was third with 97 votes. Then came Ed Roush, former Cincinnati outfielder with 91.

Others among the first 10 in vote getters were: Lefty Gomez 89, Hack Wilson 74, Tony Lazzeri 64, Kiki Cuyler 55, Hank Gowdy 49 and Sam Rice 45.

"In all my years of being on the playing field I never dreamed that this would be the final result," Greenberg said. "I can't possibly express how I feel. It's just too wonderful for words. I'm deeply grateful and humble for this great honor the writers saw fit to bestow upon me. . . "

"I'm also gald that Joe Cronin was named, too. He was one of the greatest ball players and toughest competitors I ever saw."

Reached at Newton, Mass., Cronin called his election the "greatest thrill of my career."

"I'm just as happy as a person can be," Cronin said when he learned the news.

"Just knowing I was being considered (for the Hall of Fame) was a great honor," he said. "It's even greater to be in there with such fellows as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Mickey Cochrane, Gabby Hartnett and all the others. It's also a great honor to go in with another great ballplayer—Hank Greenberg.

Played With Tigers

Greenberg, now 45, had a lifetime batting average of .313 for 1,394 big league games, most of them with the Detroit Tigers. The 6-3 first baseman-outfielder hit 58 homers for the Tigers in 1938 and is ninth on the list of all-time home run hitters with 331.

He was sold to Pittsburgh, Jan. 18, 1947, and finished his playing career with the Pirates.

Cronin, a shortstop in his playing days, broke into the majors at Pittsburgh in 1926-27 but came into his own in the American League at Washington from 1928 through 1934. He played at Boston from 1935 through 1945, when he retired after breaking his right ankle in an early season game at Yankee Stadium. He became general manager at Boston in 1948.

The San Francisco-born Irishman, now 49, is a member of the exclusive 2,000-hit club with a total of 2,285 hits in 2,124 big league games over a 20-year span. His lifetime average was .302 and he hit 171 homers.

DAPPER DAN GUEST—Johnny Michelosen, University of Pittsburgh football coach, has been invited to attend the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club dinner at the Knights of Columbus home, Sunday, February 5, at 6 p.m. Pitt wound up the regular season with a 7-3 record, beating California, Syracuse, Nebraska, Duke, Virginia, West Virginia and Penn State while bowing to Oklahoma, Navy and Miami, Fla. In the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's Day, Pitt lost to Georgia Tech, 7-0. He played at Pitt and was assistant there to Coach Jock Sutherland before coaching the Steelers in the National Football League. The announcement that Michelosen would be here was made by Reatus L. Spiker, member of the arrangements committee.

Fisher & Robinette Faces Purple Heart In Battle For Lead

A battle for first place in the National Division of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League is on tap for tonight when Fisher and Robinette visits the Purple Heart Club.

Purple Heart is setting the pace with a 40-14 record but Fisher & Robinette's team trails by only one game with a 39-15 mark. A 2-1 victory for the F. & R. shufflers would put them on top.

Green's Chevrolet is also in the thick of the fight and trail the current leaders by only two games with a 38-16 record. The Chevvies host the Hi Dee Club tonight.

AMERICAN — Southern Bar at Stadium Inn, Cas Taylor's at Frostburg Eagles, Goodfellowship Club at Fort Ashby V.F.W., Cumberland K. of C. at Redmen.

NATIONAL — Golden Nugget at Hann's Tavern and Frostburg K. of C. at Cumberland Moose. The Mt. Savage V.F.W. at Woodmen of the World match is set for Friday night.

Fort Ashby Hosts Capon High Quint

Paw Paw High's Pirates are scheduled to play Coach Jerry Calhoun's Indians at Berkeley Springs High School.

"Manager Of Year" To Receive $45,000

BOSTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Mike Higgins, an affable Texan who won 1955 "manager of the year" honors in his freshman season as a major league pilot, today was rewarded with a new three-year contract by the Boston Red Sox.

Terms of the new pact were not announced, but General Manager Joe Cronin indicated that Higgins received a sizeable salary increase. Best guesses were that the Red Sox manager will receive $35,000 to $45,000 a year.

"Mike did a great job with the club last year and was most deserving of a new contract," Cronin said. "He's been with us a long time and we want him to stay with us."

Higgins, who ended a fine playing career with the pennant-winning Red Sox in 1946, began his managerial career with the Boston farm club at Roanoke in the Class B Piedmont League the following year.

He worked his way up through the Red Sox system and last year was summoned by Cronin to replace Lou Boudreau as the Boston field manager. After a poor start during which Higgins refused to panic, the Red Sox bounced back and were in pennant contention until late in the season.

Higgins was given a two-year contract before the start of the 1955 season, but Cronin said that agreement was "torn up" and replaced by the new one which will run through 1958.

"We have great confidence in Mike," Cronin said. "He's done wonders with our young players and if anyone can lead our club to another pennant its Mike."

Higgins took over a Red Sox team which finished 42 games out of first place in 1954, and kept it in the 1955 pennant fight until the final month. The club wound up only 12 games off the top.

"We will do better than we did last year," Higgins promised Cronin in a long distance telephone call from his home in Dallas, Texas.

During his career, he compiled a lifetime batting average of .292 and was named to the American League All-Star team twice, in 1936 and 1944. He shares the major league record for the most consecutive hits—12—with Walt Dropo, now with the Chicago White Sox.

In his first year as a manager, he led Roanoke to first place and the Piedmont league playoff championship.

Giambra Gains Nod Over Andrews

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—Slow-starting middleweight Joey Giambra, of Buffalo, N. Y., punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews of St. Paul, Minn., tonight in the Norfolk City Auditorium. Giambra weighed 158 pounds and Andrews 161¾.

Referee Elder Craft voted 97-88 for Giambra, Judge John Burton voted 96-94 and Judge Charles Ford 96-95.

He also was a member of Riggleman's Ridgeley PVC basketball champions of 1948 when they compiled a 10-0 loop mark and twice was nominated for the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship award in basketball for 1947 and 1948.

Moss was selected to the all-PVC football team in 1947 and the all-PVC basketball squad in 1948. He led the league in scoring during the 1947 football season.

The new coach, who adopted Ridgeley as his home town, was fullback on Maryland's freshman team in 1948 and was first string tackle on the varsity elevens of 1949, 1950 and 1951. He played with the Terps when they defeated Missouri, 20-7, in the Gator Bowl in 1950 and again when they upended Tennessee, 28-13, in the Sugar Bowl in 1952.

Played Professional Ball

He left school after the 1951 season and played the 1952 season with the Redskins, returning to Maryland in 1952 to receive his degree in business administration in February, 1953. He was drafted by the National Football League champion Los Angeles Rams in 1952, but was traded to the Skins.

Commissioned in the Air Force ROTC, Moss served two years on active duty and played tackle and coached the line for the Bolling Air Force Base team in the 1953-54 season.

Last season he went to Canada and played more professional ball with the Ottawa Roughriders.

Winter Olympics To Open Today

Light Snow Falls On Eve Of Games

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 25 (AP)—A light snow, the first in 15 days, fell on slopes of this Alpine village today but it was only a tease on the eve of the seventh winter Olympic games.

While officials and competitors watched hopefully, snow drifted down for about half an hour. Then it stopped before it could even begin to cover the bare courses.

So this giant international spectacle of snow and ice, an 8 million dollar undertaking harrassed by the snow drought and injuries, opens formally tomorrow with skiing conditions still hazardous. No more snow is in sight.

Still another headache appeared when ice hockey referees threatened to walkout unless they were given better living quarters and compensated for expenses.

Opening ceremonies will consist of the usual parade of athletes, flag raising and oath taking ritual and lighting of the Olympic flame. Two hockey matches—Italy vs. Austria and Canada vs. Germany —complete the first day's activities.

Pihos Is Best Pass Receiver

Eagles End Takes NFL Title 3rd Time

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25 (AP) — Pete Pihos, who has announced his retirement from pro football, won the pass receiving championship in the National Football League last season for the third time in his nine year career.

Pihos of the Philadelphia Eagles caught 62 passes for 864 yards, an average of 13.9 per reception, and scored 7 touchdowns. The former Indiana star previously won passing honors in 1953 and in 1954 tied with San Francisco's Billy Wilson.

Wilson, who pressed Pihos for the leadership throughout the season, finished second with 53 caught for 831 yards and a 15.7 average with 7 touchdowns. Billy Howton of Green Bay, Dave Middleton, Detroit freshman; Tom Fears, Los Angeles, and Detroit's Lew Carpenter tied for third with 44 receptions each.

Howton gained 697 yards, Middleton 663, Fears 569 and Carpenter 312. Passing honors are determined on the number of receptions.

Snow Is Trucked To Olympic Grounds

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 25 (AP)—They brought snow to Cortina tonight and that's the same as taking coals to you know where.

The snow was trucked in from the mountains—where there isn't too much to spare—and spread in the center of this Alpine village where the seventh winter Olympics Games begin tomorrow.

Snow was needed for the opening day parade.

Hartack Rides Both Ends Of Hialeah Double

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25 — (AP) — Willie Hartack, the 1955 jockey champion, became the first rider of the meeting at Hialeah Park to sweep both ends of the daily double, turning the trick this afternoon on Jailbreak, $19.50, and Beyond, $6.30. It paid $45.20.

Jailbreak, owned by Abe Levinson of New York, won the opener by a nose from Slideout, after being in the contention all the way. Third in the field of a dozen sophomores was Codomo, the favorite. The time for the mile and a furlong was 1:53 4/5.

Beyond carried Calumet Farm's silks to a popular score in the second, winning by 2¼ lengths over Splashy, as Socko wound up third before eight other maiden 3-year-old fillies. The six-furlong event was teletimed in 1:12 1/5. The double gave Hartack nine winners for the meeting and for Calumet it was its fifth success.

Experts estimate that by 1960 we will have a shortage of 50,000 nurses in the United States.

Pihos Is Best Pass Receiver

Eagles End Takes NFL Title 3rd Time

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25 (AP) — Pete Pihos, who has announced his retirement from pro football, won the pass receiving championship in the National Football League last season for the third time in his nine year career.

Pihos of the Philadelphia Eagles caught 62 passes for 864 yards, an average of 13.9 per reception, and scored 7 touchdowns. The former Indiana star previously won passing honors in 1953 and in 1954 tied with San Francisco's Billy Wilson.

Wilson, who pressed Pihos for the leadership throughout the season, finished second with 53 caught for 831 yards and a 15.7 average with 7 touchdowns. Billy Howton of Green Bay, Dave Middleton, Detroit freshman; Tom Fears, Los Angeles, and Detroit's Lew Carpenter tied for third with 44 receptions each.

Howton gained 697 yards, Middleton 663, Fears 569 and Carpenter 312. Passing honors are determined on the number of receptions.

Snow Is Trucked To Olympic Grounds

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 25 (AP)—They brought snow to Cortina tonight and that's the same as taking coals to you know where.

The snow was trucked in from the mountains—where there isn't too much to spare—and spread in the center of this Alpine village where the seventh winter Olympics Games begin tomorrow.

Snow was needed for the opening day parade.

Hartack Rides Both Ends Of Hialeah Double

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25 — (AP) — Willie Hartack, the 1955 jockey champion, became the first rider of the meeting at Hialeah Park to sweep both ends of the daily double, turning the trick this afternoon on Jailbreak, $19.50, and Beyond, $6.30. It paid $45.20.

Jailbreak, owned by Abe Levinson of New York, won the opener by a nose from Slideout, after being in the contention all the way. Third in the field of a dozen sophomores was Codomo, the favorite. The time for the mile and a furlong was 1:53 4/5.

Beyond carried Calumet Farm's silks to a popular score in the second, winning by 2¼ lengths over Splashy, as Socko wound up third before eight other maiden 3-year-old fillies. The six-furlong event was teletimed in 1:12 1/5. The double gave Hartack nine winners for the meeting and for Calumet it was its fifth success.

Experts estimate that by 1960 we will have a shortage of 50,000 nurses in the United States.

Posthumous Carnegie Award Given For Meyersdale Hero

James Hostetler, 18, Died Trying To Save Woman From Flood

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission today cited 14 persons in the United States and Canada for heroism. Two of the heroes drowned.

The commission awarded all 14 bronze medals for "extraordinary risk of life." A pension of $30 a month was granted in one case. Additional awards of $5,000 were made in 11 other cases for educational and other worthy purposes.

Pennsylvania led the field with three awards. California was next with two. Canada and each of the following states had one: Michigan, Connecticut, Washington, West Virginia, Idaho, Montana, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The posthumous awards were made to James Hostetler, 18, son of August C. Hostetler, of Rural Route 1, Garrett, Pa., and Stanley Mitchell, 25, son of Mrs. Winnie S. Mitchell, Yakima, Wash.

Hostetler died in an attempt to save Mrs. Julia C. Chilton, 18, from drowning at Meyersdale, Pa., on Oct. 15, 1954. Mrs. Chilto perished along with Hostetler but her husband was aided to safety from the flood-waters of a creek.

Mitchell, a laborer, drowned attempting to save Terry W. Zerr, 14, who was swept from a sandbar in a cove of the Yakima River at Selah, Wash., July 17, 1955. Young Terry also drowned.

The commission said the medals will be mailed the recipients or their next of kin by registered mail within the next six or eight weeks. No personal presentation of the medal is made by the commission.

Mothers March Day Early This Year In Lonaconing

LONACONING — Mrs. James Getty and Mrs. Nelson Keyes are co-chairmen of the "Mothers March" to be sponsored by Central Elementary school on Monday, January 30.

The county-wide Mothers March will be held the following day, Tuesday, January 31. The march is being held a day early here because of other activity of community interest on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Melvin James and Mrs. Rhetta Dodds will "march" in Detmold; Mrs. Mildred Hyde and Mrs. Elizabeth Colmer will solicit in Pekin.

Mrs. Walter McKenzie and Mrs. Eleanor Morris will canvass the Jackson homes; Mrs. Flora Lyden and Mrs. Dorothy Green will "march" on Railroad street.

Mrs. Robert Robertson and Mrs. Dalton Major will visit Watercliffe; Mrs. Irvin Wilson and Mrs. Willard Brakeall, the Big Vein Hill area.

Mrs. Jack Petry and Mrs. Charles Clise will canvass the Rockville section; Mrs. Christina Spiker will "march" on the Island; Mrs. John Steiding and Mrs. George Timney will visit homes on Church hill.

Mrs. Ben Zarger and Mrs. Simeon Hutcheson will solicit West Main Street; Mrs. Marion Fazenbaker and Mrs. Ruth Phillips will canvass Charlestown district.

Mrs. George Gardner, Mrs. William Hadley, Mrs. Mark Pase and Mrs. John Smith will be in charge of East Main Street collection; Mrs. Elmer Stevenson and Mrs. Frederick H. Sheeley are in charge of Dudley.

Mrs. James Love, Mrs. Robert Love, Mrs. Charleton Dodds and Mrs. Garvin Steele are volunteers for Douglas Avenue; Mrs. Mabel Smith and Mrs. Isabelle Boettcher will canvass Beechwood.

Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. John Brown are in charge of St. Mary's Terrace; Mrs. Robert Lemon and Mrs. Anna Mae Barton will collect for the March of Dimes on Robbins street.

Turn on your porch light or light in window to the attention of the March of Dimes workers. Last year the Mothers collected over $300.

The group will meet at Central School to be served coffee and doughnuts when they have finished their "Mothers March."

Two Mt. Savage Babies Baptized

MT. SAVAGE — The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farrell was baptized Sunday in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Thomas E. Stephens and Mrs. Edward Farrell were the sponsors and the child was given the name of Thomas Edward Farrell.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Carney was also baptized Sunday at St. Patrick's. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mulligan were the sponsors for the child and he was given the name of Charles Christopher Carney. Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor, officiated at both baptisms.

Card Club Meets

MT. SAVAGE — The Cheerful Card Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Leona Reagan. Refreshments were served and prizes were won by Mrs. Alice Meade, Mrs. Bertha Farrell and Mrs. Anna Marie Williams. The next hostess to the group will be Miss Martha Reagan.

Hardy County Teachers Favor Social Security

MOOREFIELD — Hardy County teachers voted overwhelmingly Monday in favor of coming under the Federal Insurance Contribution Act or Social Security. The count was 115 in favor and 10 against.

The vote only expresses the teachers' acceptance of the Federal Security plan. To date the Board of Education has not found funds for the matching contribution for the retirement plan but have the plan under study.

Results were tallied Tuesday morning by P. W. Clarke, E. B. Simmons, and Mrs. Price Riggleman. The decision will be effective for a period of two years.

Nurses Licensed By State Board

PIEDMONT — Sally Kay Fredlock, has received word that she passed the Maryland State Board examinations for a registered nurse.

Miss Fredlock is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Fredlock, Jones Street, Piedmont, and received her nurse's training at Bon Secour Hospital, Baltimore. At the graduation exercises in September Miss Fredlock received the Sodality award for outstanding achievement.

Marland on December 14, 1955.

Morris Barron Addresses PTA

FROSTBURG — Morris Barron, judge of Juvenile Court, was the speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the PTA of the College Laboratory School. His topic was "Parents, as Partners, Work with the Law." Judge Barron particularly stressed the facts that "Children are our greatest assets, the future citizens of our country, our future lawmakers and leaders in government."

Most juveniles, he stated, come from broken homes and from homes where families are not as close to the church as were their fathers. Juvenile Court needs the assistance of all parents, churches and schools working together for correction rather than punishment.

Alvin Kreiling, president of the group presided at the business meeting. The attendance award was won by grade one. Reford Aldridge made an appeal for volunteers to work with the new cub packs sponsored by the PTA.

Blue Crutch Sale Termed Success

FROSTBURG — A. J. Green, publicity chairman of Lodge No. 348, LOOM, announced that the "blue crutch sale" sponsored for the March of Dimes last Saturday was a success. Green has expressed his appreciation to all who contributed so generously to this drive. The March of Dimes committee consists of Edward Miller, Harry Thomas, Elmer Smith, Harry Smith, Patrick McKenzie and Rudolph B. Lewis.

The Frostburg Moose fellowship will hold its regular meeting Tuesday January 31 at 8 p. m. in the Moose home.

Line Department Of Frostburg PE Gets Safety Honor

FROSTBURG — The line department of the Frostburg District of the Potomac Edison system was awarded a plaque last week for going a full year without a loss-time accident.

According to Raymond Beard, safety supervisor for the company, the local department worked 204,192 man hours without an accident to win the award.

In the department there are 36 men working at all times at extremely hazardous jobs taking them to parts of Pennsylvania, Allegany County and Garrett County. On call at all times, many of their emergency jobs are at nighttime in extremely bad weather.

Beard, in presenting the above facts said that any group which attains such a record is to be congratulated. The plaque was presented to Lawrence L. Lewis, acting superintendent of the line department in the absence of J. Everett Grose, Supt., by Walter T. Kline, district manager.

Also attending the presentation was S. H. Brown, general line superintendent of the Potomac Edison system.

Beall Fifth Grade Visit Folk Museum

FROSTBURG—The fifth grade pupils of Beall Elementary School, under the guidance of Mrs. Gordon Taylor, visited the folk museum exhibit at State Teachers College recently.

The group was especially interested because they are making a collection of old articles, some dating back to colonial days. To date the group has collected a hooked rug, quilt, arrow heads, spectacles, a butter mold, flat iron and stand, miner's hat and lamps, clothes dolly, lantern, oil lamp, milk glass plate and pottery jar.

Earl F. Brain, principal of the school announced that Beall Elementary School will promote the March of Dimes collection from January 24 through February 3.

Alumni To Meet

WESTERNPORT — Plans for the annual banquet and dance of the Alumni Association will be made at a meeting of the group today, 8 p. m. at the Bruce High School, Henry E. Wilt, president, states.

Frostburg Councilman Enters Municipal Election Contest

G. FRANKLIN MARTENS

FROSTBURG—Water and Lights Commissioner G. Franklin Martens, 164 McCulloh Street, is the first candidate to "throw his hat into the political ring" for the Mountain City elections in April.

City Clerk Alex G. Close disclosed Martens' candidacy.

This is Martens third attempt for a city office, having run in 1952 and in 1954. He placed fifth in both elections in which four commissioners are elected. Martens was appointed to his present post following the resignation of Paul C. Haberlein who became an Allegany County deputy sheriff last February.

Martens is employed at the Cumberland Undergarment Factory, Cumberland as foreman in the stock room. He is a past president of the East End Playground Association which he helped to organize. He is superintendent of the Sunday School of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, having also served there in other official positions.

He is a member of Mountain Lodge 99, AF&AM, and junior past councilor of the state in the Jr. OUAM. Martens has served 17 years as secretary of Freedom Council 123, Jr. OUAM of Frostburg. He is active in Boy Scout work and is serving in the newly formed Nemacolin district.

Married to the former Miss Eleanor Thomas, he is the father of two daughters, Lorraine and Leannah Martens.

Earlier this month Mayor Perry Myers announced he would not be a candidate for re-election in April. He served two terms as police commissioner in 1950 and 1952 before being elected mayor in 1954.

Posthumous Carnegie Award Given For Meyersdale Hero

James Hostetler, 18, Died Trying To Save Woman From Flood

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission today cited 14 persons in the United States and Canada for heroism. Two of the heroes drowned.

The commission awarded all 14 bronze medals for "extraordinary risk of life." A pension of $30 a month was granted in one case. Additional awards of $5,000 were made in 11 other cases for educational and other worthy purposes.

Pennsylvania led the field with three awards. California was next with two. Canada and each of the following states had one: Michigan, Connecticut, Washington, West Virginia, Idaho, Montana, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The posthumous awards were made to James Hostetler, 18, son of August C. Hostetler, of Rural Route 1, Garrett, Pa., and Stanley Mitchell, 25, son of Mrs. Winnie S. Mitchell, Yakima, Wash.

Hostetler died in an attempt to save Mrs. Julia C. Chilton, 18, from drowning at Meyersdale, Pa., on Oct. 15, 1954. Mrs. Chilto perished along with Hostetler but her husband was aided to safety from the flood-waters of a creek.

Mitchell, a laborer, drowned attempting to save Terry W. Zerr, 14, who was swept from a sandbar in a cove of the Yakima River at Selah, Wash., July 17, 1955. Young Terry also drowned.

The commission said the medals will be mailed the recipients or their next of kin by registered mail within the next six or eight weeks. No personal presentation of the medal is made by the commission.

Mothers March Day Early This Year In Lonaconing

LONACONING — Mrs. James Getty and Mrs. Nelson Keyes are co-chairmen of the "Mothers March" to be sponsored by Central Elementary school on Monday, January 30.

The county-wide Mothers March will be held the following day, Tuesday, January 31. The march is being held a day early here because of other activity of community interest on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Melvin James and Mrs. Rhetta Dodds will "march" in Detmold; Mrs. Mildred Hyde and Mrs. Elizabeth Colmer will solicit in Pekin.

Mrs. Walter McKenzie and Mrs. Eleanor Morris will canvass the Jackson homes; Mrs. Flora Lyden and Mrs. Dorothy Green will "march" on Railroad street.

Mrs. Robert Robertson and Mrs. Dalton Major will visit Watercliffe; Mrs. Irvin Wilson and Mrs. Willard Brakeall, the Big Vein Hill area.

Mrs. Jack Petry and Mrs. Charles Clise will canvass the Rockville section; Mrs. Christina Spiker will "march" on the Island; Mrs. John Steiding and Mrs. George Timney will visit homes on Church hill.

Mrs. Ben Zarger and Mrs. Simeon Hutcheson will solicit West Main Street; Mrs. Marion Fazenbaker and Mrs. Ruth Phillips will canvass Charlestown district.

Mrs. George Gardner, Mrs. William Hadley, Mrs. Mark Pase and Mrs. John Smith will be in charge of East Main Street collection; Mrs. Elmer Stevenson and Mrs. Frederick H. Sheeley are in charge of Dudley.

Mrs. James Love, Mrs. Robert Love, Mrs. Charleton Dodds and Mrs. Garvin Steele are volunteers for Douglas Avenue; Mrs. Mabel Smith and Mrs. Isabelle Boettcher will canvass Beechwood.

Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. John Brown are in charge of St. Mary's Terrace; Mrs. Robert Lemon and Mrs. Anna Mae Barton will collect for the March of Dimes on Robbins street.

Turn on your porch light or light in window to the attention of the March of Dimes workers. Last year the Mothers collected over $300.

Two Mt. Savage Babies Baptized

MT. SAVAGE — The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farrell was baptized Sunday in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Thomas E. Stephens and Mrs. Edward Farrell were the sponsors and the child was given the name of Thomas Edward Farrell.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Carney was also baptized Sunday at St. Patrick's. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mulligan were the sponsors for the child and he was given the name of Charles Christopher Carney. Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor, officiated at both baptisms.

Card Club Meets

MT. SAVAGE — The Cheerful Card Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Leona Reagan. Refreshments were served and prizes were won by Mrs. Alice Meade, Mrs. Bertha Farrell and Mrs. Anna Marie Williams. The next hostess to the group will be Miss Martha Reagan.

Hardy County Teachers Favor Social Security

MOOREFIELD — Hardy County teachers voted overwhelmingly Monday in favor of coming under the Federal Insurance Contribution Act or Social Security. The count was 115 in favor and 10 against.

The vote only expresses the teachers' acceptance of the Federal Security plan. To date the Board of Education has not found funds for the matching contribution for the retirement plan but have the plan under study.

Results were tallied Tuesday morning by P. W. Clarke, E. B. Simmons, and Mrs. Price Riggleman. The decision will be effective for a period of two years.

Nurses Licensed By State Board

PIEDMONT — Sally Kay Fredlock, has received word that she passed the Maryland State Board examinations for a registered nurse.

Miss Fredlock is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Fredlock, Jones Street, Piedmont, and received her nurse's training at Bon Secour Hospital, Baltimore. At the graduation exercises in September Miss Fredlock received the Sodality award for outstanding achievement.

MT. SAVAGE — Miss Mae Grahame, state supervisor of school libraries and Miss Mildred Willison, elementary supervisor of education in Allegany County met with Alfred Benna, principal and the faculty of Mt. Savage Elementary School for the purpose of organizing an Elementary School library.

Miss Grahame and Miss Willison spent two days making a survey of available materials and instructing faculty members in the necessary procedures for library organization.

Miss Agnes Aldridge, Miss Evelyn Poland and Miss Leah Huff were appointed to the library committee. They will be assisted by other members of the faculty.

Student assistants were appointed from grades five and six. Miss Grahame instructed the student assistants and conducted a workshop for them in book classification.

Fire Damages Broiler House

MOOREFIELD — A two-story broiler house belonging to Sterling Cain caught fire early Friday morning but was extinguished by the Moorefield Volunteer Firemen with only minor damage resulting from the blaze.

Cain was heating the structure preparatory to placing baby chicks in when the litter on the second floor caught fire. A small hole was burned in the floor, another small hole in the roof and all the litter on the second floor smouldered and burned.

Miners Hospital Auxiliary Entertained

FROSTBURG — The Miners Hospital Auxiliary met at the Legion Home Monday evening. Reports from various committees were received and it was voted to buy plate covers for the hospital.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Joe Coakley presented a program of dances from the Dixon Dance Studio.

CANDIDATE — John T. Johnson, presently serving out the unexpired term of J. B. McLaughlin as West Virginia Commissioner of Agriculture, has filed with the Secretary of State D. Pitt O'Brien for election to that post subject to the Democratic primaries on May 8. Johnson, who resides at Williamstown, W. Va., was named to the post by Gov. William C. Marland on December 14, 1955.

Morris Barron Addresses PTA

FROSTBURG — Morris Barron, judge of Juvenile Court, was the speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the PTA of the College Laboratory School. His topic was "Parents, as Partners, Work with the Law." Judge Barron particularly stressed the facts that "Children are our greatest assets, the future citizens of our country, our future lawmakers and leaders in government."

Most juveniles, he stated, come from broken homes and from homes where families are not as close to the church as were their fathers. Juvenile Court needs the assistance of all parents, churches and schools working together for correction rather than punishment.

Alvin Kreiling, president of the group presided at the business meeting. The attendance award was won by grade one. Reford Aldridge made an appeal for volunteers to work with the new cub packs sponsored by the PTA.

Blue Crutch Sale Termed Success

FROSTBURG — A. J. Green, publicity chairman of Lodge No. 348, LOOM, announced that the "blue crutch sale" sponsored for the March of Dimes last Saturday was a success. Green has expressed his appreciation to all who contributed so generously to this drive. The March of Dimes committee consists of Edward Miller, Harry Thomas, Elmer Smith, Harry Smith, Patrick McKenzie and Rudolph B. Lewis.

The Frostburg Moose fellowship will hold its regular meeting Tuesday January 31 at 8 p. m. in the Moose home.

Line Department Of Frostburg PE Gets Safety Honor

FROSTBURG — The line department of the Frostburg District of the Potomac Edison system was awarded a plaque last week for going a full year without a loss-time accident.

According to Raymond Beard, safety supervisor for the company, the local department worked 204,192 man hours without an accident to win the award.

In the department there are 36 men working at all times at extremely hazardous jobs taking them to parts of Pennsylvania, Allegany County and Garrett County. On call at all times, many of their emergency jobs are at nighttime in extremely bad weather.

Beard, in presenting the above facts said that any group which attains such a record is to be congratulated. The plaque was presented to Lawrence L. Lewis, acting superintendent of the line department in the absence of J. Everett Grose, Supt., by Walter T. Kline, district manager.

Beall Fifth Grade Visit Folk Museum

FROSTBURG—The fifth grade pupils of Beall Elementary School, under the guidance of Mrs. Gordon Taylor, visited the folk museum exhibit at State Teachers College recently.

The group was especially interested because they are making a collection of old articles, some dating back to colonial days. To date the group has collected a hooked rug, quilt, arrow heads, spectacles, a butter mold, flat iron and stand, miner's hat and lamps, clothes dolly, lantern, oil lamp, milk glass plate and pottery jar.

Earl F. Brain, principal of the school announced that Beall Elementary School will promote the March of Dimes collection from January 24 through February 3.

Alumni To Meet

WESTERNPORT — Plans for the annual banquet and dance of the Alumni Association will be made at a meeting of the group today, 8 p. m. at the Bruce High School, Henry E. Wilt, president, states.

Frostburg Councilman Enters Municipal Election Contest

G. FRANKLIN MARTENS

FROSTBURG—Water and Lights Commissioner G. Franklin Martens, 164 McCulloh Street, is the first candidate to "throw his hat into the political ring" for the Mountain City elections in April.

City Clerk Alex G. Close disclosed Martens' candidacy.

This is Martens third attempt for a city office, having run in 1952 and in 1954. He placed fifth in both elections in which four commissioners are elected. Martens was appointed to his present post following the resignation of Paul C. Haberlein who became an Allegany County deputy sheriff last February.

Martens is employed at the Cumberland Undergarment Factory, Cumberland as foreman in the stock room. He is a past president of the East End Playground Association which he helped to organize. He is superintendent of the Sunday School of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, having also served there in other official positions.

He is a member of Mountain Lodge 99, AF&AM, and junior past councilor of the state in the Jr. OUAM. Martens has served 17 years as secretary of Freedom Council 123, Jr. OUAM of Frostburg. He is active in Boy Scout work and is serving in the newly formed Nemacolin district.

Married to the former Miss Eleanor Thomas, he is the father of two daughters, Lorraine and Leannah Martens.

Earlier this month Mayor Perry Myers announced he would not be a candidate for re-election in April. He served two terms as police commissioner in 1950 and 1952 before being elected mayor in 1954.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To Say The Right Thing Every Time

There are ways to avoid saying the wrong thing, and all the anguish that goes with it. Six rules guarantee safe conduct through any conversation, forestall awkward remarks. And they all add up to just this: Never let your conversation run away with your consideration.

1. Steer clear of unpleasant or highly emotional subjects. There's danger in every word of a prejudice-charged subject such as religion or politics unless you are positive of the sympathies of your listeners.

2. Don't start a subject with a critical comment or strong opinion. You're too likely to step on somebody's toes unwittingly, and there's no easier way to alienate people than to attack what is dear to them.

3. Avoid all questions that pry into the privacy of another, and comment that is too personal. And careful there, that you don't give away someone else's business.

4. Respect opposite opinions. You can't be more wrong than to say "You're wrong" abruptly, or to be sarcastic. If you can't agree, say nothing or phrase disagreement with great tact, "I'm sure there's truth in what you say, but may I express an opinion?" Or change the subject, gently.

5. Think three times before you speak if there's any doubt of the effect of what you say. Twice may not be enough to prevent embarrassment, hurt, or antagonism. Break the habit of speech as a quick reaction to the unusual — it's too easy to blurt out what's better left unsaid. Put kindness first in choosing the words you use after due deliberation.

6. Don't try to sound as if you knew all the answers. This eventually glazes the eye of even the most considerate listener. And if you hold forth on a subject you know little about, the other person just may turn out to be an authority.

Tomorrow — Handle the pose gracefully.

OPTIMISTIC BIDDING MUST BE SELECTIVE

IT IS OFTEN excusable to bid a hand optimistically, but only if the declarer-to-be is a good cardplayer. In the deal below North's aggressiveness was particularly unwise because his partner—who would have to play the hand—was obviously none too skillful.

North dealer.

North: ♠ K Q ♥ A 9 6 5 ♦ K Q ♣ A K 9 7 4
West: ♠ 10 7 6 3 ♥ K 4 2 ♦ A 8 4 3 ♣ 10 5
East: ♠ J 9 8 ♥ 7 ♦ J 10 6 5 2 ♣ Q J 8 3
South: ♠ A 5 4 2 ♥ Q J 10 8 3 ♦ 9 7 ♣ 6 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

To repeat, North had to take a rather rosy view of South's heart response to assume that there would be a fair play for a slam even if, by lucky happenstance, South had one of the missing aces. However, with South turning up with a good five-card heart suit, the spade ace and only a doubleton diamond, North's optimism should have been rewarded—and would have been if South had played the cards competently.

West opened the ace of diamonds, took a good look at the dummy, and then shifted to a spade. The queen won, and probably with the twin objects of establishing clubs and returning to his own hand for a trump finesse, South cashed the top clubs, then ruffed a third round with the heart queen. West gratefully overruffed, and there went the slam.

After losing the first trick to the diamond ace, South could see very plainly that success depended on finessing successfully for the missing king of trumps. Lacking four trumps, he could not harbor any substantial hope of dropping the king. It should have been equally apparent that the early lead of three rounds of clubs would be dangerous, perhaps setting up an overruff position for the enemy. Thus, the markedly correct play was to overtake dummy's spade queen with the ace at the second trick and immediately to finesse for the heart king.

Observe that with the heart king on-side, South could afford to lead three rounds of hearts and still establish the club suit if the latter broke as well as 4-2 since he would still have two trumps for ruffing.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To Say The Right Thing Every Time

There are ways to avoid saying the wrong thing, and all the anguish that goes with it. Six rules guarantee safe conduct through any conversation, forestall awkward remarks. And they all add up to just this: Never let your conversation run away with your consideration.

1. Steer clear of unpleasant or highly emotional subjects. There's danger in every word of a prejudice-charged subject such as religion or politics unless you are positive of the sympathies of your listeners.

2. Don't start a subject with a critical comment or strong opinion. You're too likely to step on somebody's toes unwittingly, and there's no easier way to alienate people than to attack what is dear to them.

3. Avoid all questions that pry into the privacy of another, and comment that is too personal. And careful there, that you don't give away someone else's business.

4. Respect opposite opinions. You can't be more wrong than to say "You're wrong" abruptly, or to be sarcastic. If you can't agree, say nothing or phrase disagreement with great tact, "I'm sure there's truth in what you say, but may I express an opinion?" Or change the subject, gently.

5. Think three times before you speak if there's any doubt of the effect of what you say. Twice may not be enough to prevent embarrassment, hurt, or antagonism. Break the habit of speech as a quick reaction to the unusual — it's too easy to blurt out what's better left unsaid. Put kindness first in choosing the words you use after due deliberation.

6. Don't try to sound as if you knew all the answers. This eventually glazes the eye of even the most considerate listener. And if you hold forth on a subject you know little about, the other person just may turn out to be an authority.

Tomorrow — Handle the pose gracefully.

OPTIMISTIC BIDDING MUST BE SELECTIVE

IT IS OFTEN excusable to bid a hand optimistically, but only if the declarer-to-be is a good cardplayer. In the deal below North's aggressiveness was particularly unwise because his partner—who would have to play the hand—was obviously none too skillful.

North dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ K Q ♥ A 9 6 5 ♦ K Q ♣ A K 9 7 4
♠ 10 7 6 3 ♥ K 4 2 ♦ A 8 4 3 ♣ 10 5	N W E S	♠ J 9 8 ♥ 7 ♦ J 10 6 5 2 ♣ Q J 8 3
	♠ A 5 4 2 ♥ Q J 10 8 3 ♦ 9 7 ♣ 6 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

To repeat, North had to take a rather rosy view of South's heart response to assume that there would be a fair play for a slam even if, by lucky happenstance, South had one of the missing aces. However, with South turning up with a good five-card heart suit, the spade ace and only a doubleton diamond, North's optimism should have been rewarded—and would have been if South had played the cards competently.

West opened the ace of diamonds, took a good look at the dummy, and then shifted to a spade. The queen won, and probably with the twin objects of establishing clubs and returning to his own hand for a trump finesse, South cashed the top clubs, then ruffed a third round with the heart queen. West gratefully overruffed, and there went the slam.

After losing the first trick to the diamond ace, South could see very plainly that success depended on finessing successfully for the missing king of trumps. Lacking four trumps, he could not harbor any substantial hope of dropping the king. It should have been equally apparent that the early lead of three rounds of clubs would be dangerous, perhaps setting up an overruff position for the enemy. Thus, the markedly correct play was to overtake dummy's spade queen with the ace at the second trick and immediately to finesse for the heart king.

Observe that with the heart king on-side, South could afford to lead three rounds of hearts and still establish the club suit if the latter broke as well as 4-2 since he would still have two trumps for ruffing.

CHRYSLER

(2) 1952 CHEVROLET
We have in stock 2 very nice Chevrolets. One a dark green finish 2-door, that shows the excellent care it has received. Has radio, heater, seat covers, side mirror.
The other one a 4-door sedan, has black finish with spotless grey interior. Has heater, spotlight. Both have very good tires. Either one of these exceptional automobiles just right for a family car and both will be trouble free. Your choice for just $695

1950 Ford 2 Door
This beautiful Ford V8 2 door (safety for the children) sedan was owned by a Kelly Staff Member, who bought the car new. The original finish is a rich maroon, has 3 brand new tires, a new battery, customized dual exhausts and dual manifold for power and economy, makes this a wonderful car at only $545

Call us for more details or a demonstration.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John W. Bergman, who passed away 1 year ago, January 26, 1955.
Loving memories never die.
As years roll on and days pass by,
In our hearts a memory is kept.
Of one we loved and will never forget.

CHRYSLER

(2) 1952 CHEVROLET
We have in stock 2 very nice Chevrolets. One a dark green finish 2-door, that shows the excellent care it has received. Has radio, heater, seat covers, side mirror.
The other one a 4-door sedan, has black finish with spotless grey interior. Has heater, spotlight. Both have very good tires. Either one of these exceptional automobiles just right for a family car and both will be trouble free. Your choice for just $695

1950 Ford 2 Door
This beautiful Ford V8 2 door (safety for the children) sedan was owned by a Kelly Staff Member, who bought the car new. The original finish is a rich maroon, has 3 brand new tires, a new battery, customized dual exhausts and dual manifold for power and economy, makes this a wonderful car at only $545

Call us for more details or a demonstration.

Highways Slick In Wake Of Falling Snow

Cold Weather Will Continue

Highway travel along U. S. Route 40 east and west of Cumberland and on U. S. Route 50 in nearby West Virginia was slowed down considerably last night due to the snow which fell during the late afternoon and evening.

Chains were recommended along Route 50 and the highway in the general area of Romney was slippery. Chains were being used on Route 40 east and west of the Queen City.

From here to Frostburg the highway was "bad" and the worst section of the highway was reported west of Frostburg toward Garrett County, where cindering crews were busy.

Asteady light snow began falling in the immediate area about 4 p. m. yesterday and by last night about an inch and a half had fallen. More snow was forecast by the weatherman—at least another inch or two.

The thermometer was expected to drop to 15 degrees above zero in Cumberland and the immediate area through the night. The high temperature today is expected to range from 27 to 36 degrees.

Fatal Accident Suit Settled For $29,000

The widow and son of a 59-year-old Frostburg man killed in the tragic LaVale crash last October 19 have been awarded $29,000 in a compromise settlement filed for record in Allegany County Ciricuit Court.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has signed the order to give Mrs. Kathleen Elizabeth Spearman, widow of Francis X. Spearman, $27,000, and Bernard Patrick Spearman, 19, $2,000.

The Spearmans, through Attorney Gorman E. Getty, filed with the compromise settlement a declaration asking $50,000 damages. Defendants in the case were Paul S. Myers Jr., Dover, Pa., driver of the runaway truck; Ray Wells, Dover, Pa., owner of the truck; Daniels Motor Freight, Inc., Warren, Ohio, lessee of the truck, and Roosevelt Garage, Inc., York, Pa., whose employes had given the truck a state-required inspection on or about October 15.

The truck was hauling sheet steel from Warren, Ohio, to Lonaconing when its brakes failed on Bi gSavage Mountain. Myers managed to drive it about nine miles before the fatal crash.

Signers of the agreement for compromise settlement were Getty and W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the defendants. Getty also signed a note that the case was "settled and satisfied."

Fluoridation Check Planned For Friday

Representatives of the Health Departments of Pennsylvania and Maryland will meet in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves at 10 a. m. tomorrow to discuss the inspection of the city's fluoridation equipment.

Mayor Eves said they then will go to the dam to inspect the equipment. A set of regulations agreeable to both states then will be formulated.

Fluoridation of city water to retard tooth decay was adopted by the Mayor and City Council December 8, 1952. The equipment was designed and installed by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the filtration plant.

BRADLEY NASH

Bradley Nash Seeks Election To Congress

Plans To Oppose Staggers In W. Va.

Bradley Nash of Harpers Ferry announced yesterday that he has submitted his resignation as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Air Force and is filing as a Republican candidate for Congress from West Virginia's Second Congressional District.

"West Virginia historically is a great and proud state, yet it has shown a decline in population as well as a relative decline in the earning power and well-being of its citizens, its school teachers, its farmers and its workers in the mines and factories, in contrast to the vast majority of the American people," he said in announcing his candidacy.

"While economic factors are involved, I believe this condition also is due to a lack of understanding by the State's representatives in Washington. They have found no answer to poor times here while virtually all the rest of the nation is sharing unmatched prosperity and welfare.

"What is needed is a constructive and positive approach to the state's agricultural, mining and industrial problems, similar to that undertaken in the Morgantown area last fall, and as further proposed in President Eisenhower's State of the Union message which calls for renewed attack on pockets of unemployment.

"This new and original approach can rebuild prosperity in West Virginia if worked out on a local and regional basis with the cooperation of all our many interests—farming, mining, manufacturing and commercial."

Nash, who owns a small farm at Harpers Ferry, was born April 7, 1900 in Boston, Mass. He was graduated with honors in 1923 from Harvard College and attended the Harvard Business School in 1924.

Recognized as an expert in government operations, Nash has had about 15 years in private business and 15 years in government service. He was assistant to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in 1927 and 1928 and has served in every administration since that of President Harding, including those of Presidents Coolidge, Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

Congressman Harley O. Staggers of Keyser, the Democrat incumbent, announced several weeks ago that he will be a candidate for a fifth term in Congress. The Second District includes 15 Eastern West Virginia counties—Barbour, Berkeley, Grant Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Monongalia, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Webster.

Police Discount Report Killer Seen In Area

FBI Seeks Irvin In Brooklyn Area

The whereabouts of Leslie "Mad Dog" Irvin remained as much a mystery as ever last night as police found nothing to confirm a report that Irvin had been seen in this area.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said a Hyndman, Pa., man's report that he had seen Irvin apparently was erroneous. The Hyndman man said he had seen a man answering Irvin's description near Hyndman High School Tuesday night.

Latest developments seemed to put Irvin somewhere in the New York area as of Sunday. International News Service said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had begun to look for Irvin in Brooklyn.

The FBI's lead came from a letter received by Mrs. Ruth Patton of St. Louis, Mo., a waitress in a coffee shop there. The letter, postmarked in Brooklyn Sunday, was written on a brown paper sack and said:

"Because you have been a good lady and delayed telling police about seeing me for 12 hours, I have no interest in killing you, but there are many people I intend to kill. I am enclosing a clipping from a New York newspaper with your picture on it."

Mrs. Patton showed the letter to the FBI, and an expert said it looked as though Irvin had written it. Mrs. Patton saw Irvin last Thursday, but didn't bother to tell police because she didn't know he had escaped the day before from the Indiana prison death house at Princeton.

He was awaiting execution for murder and is under indictment for five other slayings.

Other reports had it that Irvin had been seen in several states. Some authorities said he might have gone to Mexico, or might be working as a pipefitter, landscaper or farm laborer—jobs he has held in the past.

Area Home Destroyed By Flames

A two-story log farm house atop the mountain off West Virginia State Route 28 between Fort Ashby and Springfield was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. No one was reported injured.

Volunteer firemen from Romney, who received a call at 11:45 a. m., poured 4,000 to 5,000 gallons of water on the old structure and two outbuildings in the immediate vicinity.

However, the fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Landis had too much of a head start, and as firemen reached the scene the roof was beginning to cave in. The couple has two small children.

A few household belongings, including a stove, washer and refrigerator, were carried to safety. Nothing could be saved from the second floor of the building.

Firemen, who said the building was an old log structure with an addition built on, used their 1,000-gallon pumper and also pumped water from a nearby stream. Two outbuildings were saved.

Landis was reported to have been in the immediate vicinity of the home with a couple of other men sawing wood. His wife was inside the building.

He turned around and noticed the entire top section of the building ablaze. The home was located about a mile from Route 28. One of the men was reported to have gone quite a distance to get to the nearest telephone.

Some 15 volunteers rushed to the fire. They said the cause of the blaze was undetermined.

The local Salvation Army and Associated Charities plan to get clothing and furniture together and take it to the Landis family today.

Paper Company Electricians Reject Offer

COVINGTON, Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. said today a wage increase offer had been rejected by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (Ind.) representing 100 workers at three plants.

A company spokesman said the IBEW had given a 10-day notice that it was terminating its agreement. The notice was received in a telegram dated last Saturday.

Westvaco operates plants here and at Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa. IBEW represents 51 workers here and 49 in the other two plants. About 3,500 other hourly workers at all plants are represented by the United Paper Workers of America.

P. B. Reardon, president of IBEW Local 464 here, and George B. Wolfe, president of Local 1653 at Luke and Williamsburg, sent the company the notice.

Crawley Williams, Covington plant manager, said in a letter today to IBEW workers that because of the notice of termination no contract would exist after Jan. 31 unless an agreement is reached on a new one in the meantime.

"With no contract, it is legal for IBEW to call a strike among the employes it represents," he said. "We sincerely hope for the sake of everybody concerned that you and your union will not follow this course."

Williams indicated the company would stand firm on its offer to increase wages as much as 24 cents hourly, which "to our knowledge has not been matched in the paper industry in the past year."

The company wage offer provotes for wage increases at Covington for 24 cents hourly wage increase for leadmen and journeymen electricians, 15 cents for four-year trainees, and 5 per cent increases for other trainees with an 8 cent minimum. The company said it also offered improvement in group insurance, overtime pay eligibility, holidays and funeral leaves.

The wage scale with the increase would be $2.43 for leadmen, $2.33 for journeymen, $2.07 for four year trainees, $1.50 at hiring for training, with a raise to $1.87 after 39 months training.

In Good Condition

Mothers Marchers For City Announced By Captains

The organization for the Mothers March here next Tuesday night is nearing completion, Mrs. Lester B. McGill, general chairman, said last night, as many organizations and individuals rally to the annual major effort in the March of Dimes.

As previously announced, Mrs. McGill noted, area, community and neighborhood captains were named to organize particular areas. Most of these are completed, and all will be in the next day or two, Mrs. McGill said she has been assured.

Among the neighborhoods ready to launch their drives are North End, Bedford Road area and Virginia Avenue School area.

Blue Spring Ownership Questioned

Who owns Blue Spring?

That question got considerable attention yesterday afternoon at City Hall.

It all started when the office of City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum got a report that the Buchanan Lumber Company claimed ownership of the spring, back of the old Canada Hose House on North Mechanic Street.

The U.S. Leather Company, which once operated a tannery between Lee Street and the Western Maryland Railway tracks, obtained its water supply from Blue Spring. A plat on file in the engineer's office indicated that the leather company also owned the spring.

The tannery subsequently was sold to the Keystone Leather Company, thence to Abraham Feldstein and later to the Buchanan Lumber Company. The deed from Keystone to Feldstein recorded at the Court House gave Feldstein the same rights to Blue Spring that it enjoyed. The Feldstein to Buchanan deed simply gave the lumber company water rights.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery dug out a deed dated August 10, 1909 by which the Mayor and City Council presumably acquired title to Blue Spring.

That may settle the case, but there was no certainty on the point at City Hall.

Three Properties In County Sold

Deeds listing the sale of three properties have been filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The Maryland Coal and Realty Company has sold property in Election District 11 at Frostburg to Ernest P. Ogden Jr., Ruth Wolff and Elizabeth F. Wolff. Henry N. Dressman and Agnes R. Dressman have sold property on the south side of Henry Street in LaVale to William E. Helmick and Ruth S. Helmick. Paul E. Light and Grace P. Light have sold property on Eichner Avenue to Henry E. Hensel and Yvonne Hensel.

Elderly Local Man Missing

City Police have been notified that an 82-year-old local man, a Spanish American War veteran, is missing from his home.

He is Clarence Smith, 232 Mary Street, who was last seen December 28, according to police. Smith is described as tall, thin and "stoop-shouldered." He was reported to have been a patient at the Newton D. Baker VA Center last fall. At first it was believed he might have gone to Martinsburg but a neighbor said that a check with the hospital showed that he wasn't there.

Youth Still Critical

Attaches at Memorial Hospital today said Randall Harman, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harman, Petersburg, has improved somewhat but is still on the critical list. The youth was admitted last Friday with internal injuries suffered while sledding at Johnson Run School near Petersburg.

Baltimore Firm To Design Most Of Expressway

A Baltimore consulting engineering firm has been awarded a contract to design a three-mile section of the Crosstown Expressway, the State Roads Commission said yesterday.

Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, said the engineering and planning will be done by Green Associates of Baltimore. State Roads Commission engineers will design the connecting portions of the route.

The firm will design the section of the expressway starting on Route 40 at a point 800 feet east of the intersection of Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue.

The Green project will extend westward along the expressway line parallel to Central Avenue, across the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the southern part of the downtown business section, over the Western Maryland Railway and Wills Creek, and follows the Potomac River to a point just west of Kelly Boulevard.

The Green firm will also design the Industrial Boulevard from a point south of Harrison Street to Second Street.

The Green company has under contract the design of 3.1 miles of the expressway.

McCain said connecting highways to the portion designed by the Green company will be designed by State Roads Commission engineers.

The contract calls for the company to furnish within a short period of time to the State Roads Commission a detailed progress report.

This report is to show when Green Associates expects to complete each phase of the contract.

The target date for completion of the design, (a tentative date at this time) is November 1956.

The entire expressway goes as far east as Baltimore Pike and extends up over Ridgedale Addition, across Route 220 south, up over Braddock Road, through Allegany Grove and connecting with present Route 40 near the Six Mile House. The industrial Boulevard extends to Oldtown Road.

Second National Holds Election

Stockholders of the Second National Bank of Cumberland recently held their annual meeting and re-elected all directors. The directors in turn met and re-elected officers of the bank.

Directors re-elected are Harry J. Barton, G. William Bibby, J. Glenn Beall, W. Earle Cobey, Russell J. Cook, Arthur W. Conley, William A. Douglas, Charles Z. Heskett, Owen E. Hitchens, Henry W. Miller Jr., and Fulcher P. Smith.

Joseph M. Naughton was re-elected president; John H. Mosner, vice president; George A. Caswell, vice president; Russell S. Wagner, assistant vice president; Joseph F. Stakem, assistant vice president; Angela W. McClure, assistant cashier; Charles H. Hyde, comtroller; George E. North, trust officer; Harry W. Matthews, auditor, and J. Edwin Winters, acting auditor.

Year-end reports for 1955 were discussed and approved at the meetings.

Schoolboy Hurt In Fall On Ice

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was taken about 3:25 p. m., said John Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roy, was admitted for observation.

Five Children Led To Safety In Home Blaze

Brice Hollow Road Residence Destroyed

Five small children, including a six-month-old baby, were led to safety by their mother yesterday about 2 p.m. while flames destroyed their home on Brice Hollow Road.

Another child was in school at the time of the fire, in which Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ritchie lost all their possessions.

Mrs. Ritchie didn't have time to get coats for two of the children as they were forced outside into below-freezing weather.

Had No Telephone

The mother was unable to get to a telephone to call volunteer firemen, and the two-story frame home was gutted. Her husband, recently hired by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was on a trial run as a locomotive fireman.

Mrs. Ritchie called for help from the home of a neighbor, Lewis Wentling, who aided her in taking the children to his home. The members of the family were staying last night at the homes of neighbors along Brice Hollow Road.

The fire was believed to have started from a defective stove or stovepipe. The Ritchies had no phone at their home and the closest neighbor with a telephone wasn't home at the time of the blaze.

By the time the children and mother were taken to safety and out of the cold weather, the flames had eaten their way through the four-room home, in which the family had lived about five years.

The Ritchie children range in age from six months to eight years, including a set of twins aged two.

Will Get Aid Today

Clothing and furniture will be taken to the Ritchie family today by the Salvation Army and Associated Charities.

Firemen from LaVale and Corriganville extinguished the blaze in one hour and 15 minutes. The fire started in the chimney of the building and destroyed one wall and sections of the ceiling in the front room.

Firemen, who moved the family's furniture outside, were forced to cut sections of the roof to get to the flames. The damage was partially covered by insurance.

Teachers Meet With County's Lawmakers

The Allegany County Teachers Association, seeking legislation to correct what it terms discrepancies in annuities for state employes, took another step forward yesterday afternoon in a meeting with State Senator Charles M. See and members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

The meeting was held in the Union Street County Building. Following a discussion with Senator See and the delegates, John D. Kelly, president of the association said he plans today to contact Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Association in an effort to get assistance in drafting a bill to be introduced in the General Assembly by the county delegation.

In the meeting yesterday, members of the association sought the advice of the delegates who are favorable to the legislation for the entire state.

Additional information such as the number of teachers to be affected and the amount of money needed at present and in the future will be sought from the state office.

The amount needed to erase these retirement deficiencies is estimated to be about $250,000, it was announced at a recent meeting of the association held in Allegany High School.

Employes in all counties except Baltimore City will be affected by this legislation, a spokesman said.

Staggers Asks Study Of Flood Control

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — A resolution calling for a comprehensive review of flood control studies of the Potomac River and its tributaries was presented to the House Public Works Committee today by Rep. Staggers (D-WVa).

In making the study, the resolution says, the engineers "shall coordinate fully" with the interstate commission of the Potomac River basin, the states of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, the District of Columbia, the National Capital Regional Planning committee "and other federal agencies concerned to insure full consideration of all views and requirements."

The resolution will be sent to the Army engineers for a preliminary report on the estimated cost and other details of the overall study.

Highways Slick In Wake Of Falling Snow

Cold Weather Will Continue

Highway travel along U. S. Route 40 east and west of Cumberland and on U. S. Route 50 in nearby West Virginia was slowed down considerably last night due to the snow which fell during the late afternoon and evening.

Although no serious accidents were reported by State Police of Maryland and West Virginia, the highways were termed hazardous in some sections.

Chains were recommended along Route 50 and the highway in the general area of Romney was slippery. Chains were being used on Route 40 east and west of the Queen City.

From here to Frostburg the highway was "bad" and the worst section of the highway was reported west of Frostburg toward Garrett County, where cindering crews were busy.

Asteady light snow began falling in the immediate area about 4 p. m. yesterday and by last night about an inch and a half had fallen. More snow was forecast by the weatherman—at least another inch or two.

The thermometer was expected to drop to 15 degrees above zero in Cumberland and the immediate area through the night. The high temperature today is expected to range from 27 to 36 degrees.

Fatal Accident Suit Settled For $29,000

The widow and son of a 59-year-old Frostburg man killed in the tragic LaVale crash last October 19 have been awarded $29,000 in a compromise settlement filed for record in Allegany County Ciricuit Court.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has signed the order to give Mrs. Kathleen Elizabeth Spearman, widow of Francis X. Spearman, $27,000, and Bernard Patrick Spearman, 19, $2,000.

Spearman was one of five persons killed when a runaway truck rammed into an automobile and truck in LaVale.

The Spearmans, through Attorney Gorman E. Getty, filed with the compromise settlement a declaration asking $50,000 damages. Defendants in the case were Paul S. Myers Jr., Dover, Pa., driver of the runaway truck; Ray Wells, Dover, Pa., owner of the truck; Daniels Motor Freight, Inc., Warren, Ohio, lessee of the truck, and Roosevelt Garage, Inc., York, Pa., whose employes had given the truck a state-required inspection on or about October 15.

The truck was hauling sheet steel from Warren, Ohio, to Lonaconing when its brakes failed on Bi gSavage Mountain. Myers managed to drive it about nine miles before the fatal crash.

Signers of the agreement for compromise settlement were Getty and W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the defendants. Getty also signed a note that the case was "settled and satisfied."

Fluoridation Check Planned For Friday

Representatives of the Health Departments of Pennsylvania and Maryland will meet in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves at 10 a. m. tomorrow to discuss the inspection of the city's fluoridation equipment.

Mayor Eves said they then will go to the dam to inspect the equipment. A set of regulations agreeable to both states then will be formulated.

Fluoridation of city water to retard tooth decay was adopted by the Mayor and City Council December 8, 1952. The equipment was designed and installed by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the filtration plant.

BRADLEY NASH

Bradley Nash Seeks Election To Congress

Plans To Oppose Staggers In W. Va.

Bradley Nash of Harpers Ferry announced yesterday that he has submitted his resignation as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Air Force and is filing as a Republican candidate for Congress from West Virginia's Second Congressional District.

"West Virginia historically is a great and proud state, yet it has shown a decline in population as well as a relative decline in the earning power and well-being of its citizens, its school teachers, its farmers and its workers in the mines and factories, in contrast to the vast majority of the American people," he said in announcing his candidacy.

"While economic factors are involved, I believe this condition also is due to a lack of understanding by the State's representatives in Washington. They have found no answer to poor times here while virtually all the rest of the nation is sharing unmatched prosperity and welfare.

"What is needed is a constructive and positive approach to the state's agricultural, mining and industrial problems, similar to that undertaken in the Morgantown area last fall, and as further proposed in President Eisenhower's State of the Union message which calls for renewed attack on pockets of unemployment.

"This new and original approach can rebuild prosperity in West Virginia if worked out on a local and regional basis with the cooperation of all our many interests—farming, mining, manufacturing and commercial."

Nash, who owns a small farm at Harpers Ferry, was born April 7, 1900 in Boston, Mass. He was graduated with honors in 1923 from Harvard College and attended the Harvard Business School in 1924.

Recognized as an expert in government operations, Nash has had about 15 years in private business and 15 years in government service. He was assistant to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in 1927 and 1928 and has served in every administration since that of President Harding, including those of Presidents Coolidge, Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

Congressman Harley O. Staggers of Keyser, the Democrat incumbent, announced several weeks ago that he will be a candidate for a fifth term in Congress. The Second District includes 15 Eastern West Virginia counties—Barbour, Berkeley, Grant Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Mineral, Monongalia, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Webster.

Police Discount Report Killer Seen In Area

FBI Seeks Irvin In Brooklyn Area

The whereabouts of Leslie "Mad Dog" Irvin remained as much a mystery as ever last night as police found nothing to confirm a report that Irvin had been seen in this area.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said a Hyndman, Pa., man's report that he had seen Irvin apparently was erroneous. The Hyndman man said he had seen a man answering Irvin's description near Hyndman High School Tuesday night.

Latest developments seemed to put Irvin somewhere in the New York area as of Sunday. International News Service said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had begun to look for Irvin in Brooklyn.

The FBI's lead came from a letter received by Mrs. Ruth Patton of St. Louis, Mo., a waitress in a coffee shop there. The letter, postmarked in Brooklyn Sunday, was written on a brown paper sack and said:

"Because you have been a good lady and delayed telling police about seeing me for 12 hours, I have no interest in killing you, but there are many people I intend to kill. I am enclosing a clipping from a New York newspaper with your picture on it."

Mrs. Patton showed the letter to the FBI, and an expert said it looked as though Irvin had written it. Mrs. Patton saw Irvin last Thursday, but didn't bother to tell police because she didn't know he had escaped the day before from the Indiana prison death house at Princeton.

He was awaiting execution for murder and is under indictment for five other slayings.

Other reports had it that Irvin had been seen in several states. Some authorities said he might have gone to Mexico, or might be working as a pipefitter, landscaper or farm laborer—jobs he has held in the past.

Area Home Destroyed By Flames

A two-story log farm house atop the mountain off West Virginia State Route 28 between Fort Ashby and Springfield was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. No one was reported injured.

Volunteer firemen from Romney, who received a call at 11:45 a. m., poured 4,000 to 5,000 gallons of water on the old structure and two outbuildings in the immediate vicinity.

However, the fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Landis had too much of a head start, and as firemen reached the scene the roof was beginning to cave in. The couple has two small children.

A few household belongings, including a stove, washer and refrigerator, were carried to safety. Nothing could be saved from the second floor of the building.

Firemen, who said the building was an old log structure with an addition built on, used their 1,000-gallon pumper and also pumped water from a nearby stream. Two outbuildings were saved.

Landis was reported to have been in the immediate vicinity of the home with a couple of other men sawing wood. His wife was inside the building.

He turned around and noticed the entire top section of the building ablaze. The home was located about a mile from Route 28. One of the men was reported to have gone quite a distance to get to the nearest telephone.

Some 15 volunteers rushed to the fire. They said the cause of the blaze was undetermined.

The local Salvation Army and Associated Charities plan to get clothing and furniture together and take it to the Landis family today.

Paper Company Electricians Reject Offer

COVINGTON, Va., Jan. 25 (AP)—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. said today a wage increase offer had been rejected by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (Ind.) representing 100 workers at three plants.

A company spokesman said the IBEW had given a 10-day notice that it was terminating its agreement. The notice was received in a telegram dated last Saturday.

Westvaco operates plants here and at Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa. IBEW represents 51 workers here and 49 in the other two plants. About 3,500 other hourly workers at all plants are represented by the United Paper Workers of America.

P. B. Reardon, president of IBEW Local 464 here, and George B. Wolfe, president of Local 1653 at Luke and Williamsburg, sent the company the notice.

Crawley Williams, Covington plant manager, said in a letter today to IBEW workers that because of the notice of termination no contract would exist after Jan. 31 unless an agreement is reached on a new one in the meantime.

"With no contract, it is legal for IBEW to call a strike among the employes it represents," he said. "We sincerely hope for the sake of everybody concerned that you and your union will not follow this course."

Williams indicated the company would stand firm on its offer to increase wages as much as 24 cents hourly, which "to our knowledge has not been matched in the paper industry in the past year."

The agreement expired Dec. 5 but negotiations didn't start until Dec. 19.

The company wage offer provotes for wage increases at Covington for 24 cents hourly wage increase for leadmen and journeymen electricians, 15 cents for four-year trainees, and 5 per cent increases for other trainees with an 8 cent minimum. The company said it also offered improvement in group insurance, overtime pay eligibility, holidays and funeral leaves.

The wage scale with the increase would be $2.43 for leadmen, $2.33 for journeymen, $2.07 for four year trainees, $1.50 at hiring for training, with a raise to $1.87 after 39 months training.

In Good Condition

Blue Spring Ownership Questioned

Who owns Blue Spring?

That question got considerable attention yesterday afternoon at City Hall.

It all started when the office of City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum got a report that the Buchanan Lumber Company claimed ownership of the spring, back of the old Canada Hose House on North Mechanic Street.

The U.S. Leather Company, which once operated a tannery between Lee Street and the Western Maryland Railway tracks, obtained its water supply from Blue Spring. A plat on file in the engineer's office indicated that the leather company also owned the spring.

The tannery subsequently was sold to the Keystone Leather Company, thence to Abraham Feldstein and later to the Buchanan Lumber Company. The deed from Keystone to Feldstein recorded at the Court House gave Feldstein the same rights to Blue Spring that it enjoyed. The Feldstein to Buchanan deed simply gave the lumber company water rights.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery dug out a deed dated August 10, 1909 by which the Mayor and City Council presumably acquired title to Blue Spring.

That may settle the case, but there was no certainty on the point at City Hall.

Three Properties In County Sold

Deeds listing the sale of three properties have been filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The Maryland Coal and Realty Company has sold property in Election District 11 at Frostburg to Ernest P. Ogden Jr., Ruth Wolff and Elizabeth F. Wolff, Henry N. Dressman and Agnes R. Dressman have sold property on the south side of Henry Street in LaVale to William E. Helmick and Ruth S. Helmick. Paul E. Light and Grace P. Light have sold property on Eichner Avenue to Henry E. Hensel and Yvonne Hensel.

Elderly Local Man Missing

He is Clarence Smith, 232 Mary Street, who was last seen December 28, according to police. Smith is described as tall, thin and "stoop-shouldered." He was reported to have been a patient at the Newton D. Baker VA Center last fall. At first it was believed he might have gone to Martinsburg but a neighbor said that a check with the hospital showed that he wasn't there.

Youth Still Critical

Attaches at Memorial Hospital today said Randall Harman, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harman, Petersburg, has improved somewhat but is still on the critical list. The youth was admitted last Friday with internal injuries suffered while sledding at Johnson Run School near Petersburg.

Baltimore Firm To Design Most Of Expressway

A Baltimore consulting engineering firm has been awarded a contract to design a three-mile section of the Crosstown Expressway, the State Roads Commission said yesterday.

Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman, said the engineering and planning will be done by Green Associates of Baltimore. State Roads Commission engineers will design the connecting portions of the route.

The firm will design the section of the expressway starting on Route 40 at a point 800 feet east of the intersection of Willowbrook Road and Baltimore Avenue.

The Green project will extend westward along the expressway line parallel to Central Avenue, across the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the southern part of the downtown business section, over the Western Maryland Railway and Wills Creek, and follows the Potomac River to a point just west of Kelly Boulevard.

The Green firm will also design the Industrial Boulevard from a point south of Harrison Street to Second Street.

The Green company has under contract the design of 3.1 miles of the expressway.

McCain said connecting highways to the portion designed by the Green company will be designed by State Roads Commission engineers.

The contract calls for the company to furnish within a short period of time to the State Roads Commission a detailed progress report.

This report is to show when Green Associates expects to complete each phase of the contract.

The target date for completion of the design, (a tentative date at this time) is November 1956.

The entire expressway goes as far east as Baltimore Pike and extends up over Ridgedale Addition, across Route 220 south, up over Braddock Road, through Allegany Grove and connecting with present Route 40 near the Six Mile House. The industrial Boulevard extends to Oldtown Road.

Schoolboy Hurt In Fall On Ice

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was taken about 3:25 p. m., said John Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roy, was admitted for observation.

Five Children Led To Safety In Home Blaze

Brice Hollow Road Residence Destroyed

Five small children, including a six-month-old baby, were led to safety by their mother yesterday about 2 p.m. while flames destroyed their home on Brice Hollow Road.

Another child was in school at the time of the fire, in which Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ritchie lost all their possessions.

Mrs. Ritchie didn't have time to get coats for two of the children as they were forced outside into below-freezing weather.

Had No Telephone

The mother was unable to get to a telephone to call volunteer firemen, and the two-story frame home was gutted. Her husband, recently hired by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was on a trial run as a locomotive fireman.

Mrs. Ritchie called for help from the home of a neighbor, Lewis Wentling, who aided her in taking the children to his home. The members of the family were staying last night at the homes of neighbors along Brice Hollow Road.

The fire was believed to have started from a defective stove or stovepipe. The Ritchies had no phone at their home and the closest neighbor with a telephone wasn't home at the time of the blaze.

By the time the children and mother were taken to safety and out of the cold weather, the flames had eaten their way through the four-room home, in which the family had lived about five years.

Will Get Aid Today

Clothing and furniture will be taken to the Ritchie family today by the Salvation Army and Associated Charities.

Firemen from LaVale and Corriganville extinguished the blaze in one hour and 15 minutes. The fire started in the chimney of the building and destroyed one wall and sections of the ceiling in the front room.

Firemen, who moved the family's furniture outside, were forced to cut sections of the roof to get to the flames. The damage was partially covered by insurance.

Teachers Meet With County's Lawmakers

The Allegany County Teachers Association, seeking legislation to correct what it terms discrepancies in annuities for state employes, took another step forward yesterday afternoon in a meeting with State Senator Charles M. See and members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

The meeting was held in the Union Street County Building. Following a discussion with Senator See and the delegates, John D. Kelly, president of the association said he plans today to contact Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Association in an effort to get assistance in drafting a bill to be introduced in the General Assembly by the county delegation.

In the meeting yesterday, members of the association sought the advice of the delegates who are favorable to the legislation for the entire state.

Additional information such as the number of teachers to be affected and the amount of money needed at present and in the future will be sought from the state office.

The amount needed to erase these retirement deficiencies is estimated to be about $250,000, it was announced at a recent meeting of the association held in Allegany High School.

Employes in all counties except Baltimore City will be affected by this legislation, a spokesman said.
